

Sooner  Snapshots

---

“1942: A PORTRAIT IN MUSIC”—This signature shot of a ruin near the monastery of La Rábida on the Gulf of Cádiz is from an early-music video produced by the University of Oklahoma as part of the international commemoration of Christopher Columbus’ voyage to the New World. From here Columbus launched his ships—and with them, the Age of Discovery. Music from the video, which was produced and written by OU Professor Eugene Enrico and broadcast by OETA, was performed by the internationally known Waverly Consort and is available on compact disc.

photo by David Smeal