IT'S A DIRTY JOB, BUT SOMEBODY HAS TO DO IT. Once a year the OU Student Alumni Board plows a volleyball pit into the good, red earth of the campus, Norman firefighters keep it ankle-deep in water and more than 30 teams pay $40 to plunge in for glory and a cash prize. This year "Oozeball" teams represented political parties, ethnic groups, a local bar, the firefighters and a variety of student and staff aggregations. The tournament benefits the Student Alumni Board's work in recruiting and alumni relations.
