AT THE WATCH—The murals of OU art instructor Louise Jones are appearing on interior walls throughout the University—in Jacobson Hall, Oklahoma Memorial Union, Carnegie Building and here in Old Science Hall, the senior Norman campus structure dating from 1903. Some subjects in Jones' depictions of historic figures and events are startlingly lifelike. Here real-life students enter the building between OU's first president, David Ross Boyd, at left, and seventh president, George Lynn Cross, at right, who stand vigil over the institution they served so faithfully and well.
