

Robert Taylor

DRESSED FOR THE OCCASION — Even with the incessant spring rains complicating the process, landscapers were on task to make sure that the Norman campus looked its absolute best for the annual ritual of OU Commencement. Being properly attired for the occasion also took on added importance for Pe-et, the inventive senior honorary organization known for its creative capers. The statue of the distinguished alumnus and Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives Carl Albert, which stands watch outside Oklahoma Memorial Union, looked remarkably underdressed to critical Pe-et eyes—but only for the moment. When Commencement day dawned, Speaker Albert was capped and gowned and ready for the ceremonies to begin.