

Grant Foreman (above), one of the foremost authorities on the Indian, whose book, "Indian Removal," was published October 10 by the University of Oklahoma Press; and John Joseph Mathews, '20, author of "Wah'Kon-Tah," published by the Press November 1. Both men will appear on the Oklahoma program

WNAD's Oklahoma statehood program

NOVEMBER 15-17

OKEH Oklahoma! And that is the way you'll feel about your state if you tune in on WNAD the evenings of November 15, 16 and 17 to hear the Silver Jubilee program celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of Oklahoma statehood. The University of Oklahoma is offering as its contribution to the statewide celebration a radio program of paramount interest to residents of Oklahoma and the southwest.

Five of the foremost students and historians of the American Indian in the United States, a federal judge formerly governor of Oklahoma during the red days of the World war, the editor of An Oklahoma Angle on Things Literary in the Daily Oklahoman, an Osage chief, and the University of Oklahoma band directed by Professor William R. Wehrend, will appear on the program.

Alfred Barnaby Thomas, one of the principal speakers, is in the forefront of those who are rediscovering the Spanish contribution to the making of America. Forgotten Frontiers by Doctor Thomas, one of the recent books published by the University of Oklahoma Press, is an excellent contribution to the history of New Mexico.

Stanley Vestal, known to university circles as Professor W. S. Campbell, is known nationally through his books Kit Carson, The Happy Warrior of the Old West and Sitting Bull, a new interpretation of that old Sioux chief.

Grant Foreman, from the ranks of America's Who's Who, graduate of the University of Michigan and director of Oklahoma State Historical Society, is the author of a new book entitled Indian Removal which has lately been published by the University of Oklahoma Press.

John Joseph Mathews, author of Wah'Kon-Tah, another University Press publication, is to be introduced on the program by Chief Fred Lookout of the Osage tribe. Mr Mathews, himself part Osage, has written a book of popular appeal which has been described as an atmospheric history of the Indians.

Doctor Edward E. Dale, former cowboy, poet and professor and a true representative of the west, is a lover of frontier people and their traditions. In 1926 he made a tour of all the Indian Reservations in the United States. One of his books, The Range Cattle Industry, also published by the University Press, has been acclaimed by authorities as significant both from an economic standpoint and from a romantic angle.

Federal Judge Bob Williams, former "circuit ridin' parson" in Texas, whose life in the public service has become forever inseparably linked with the history of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, was governor of the state during the World war.

Kenneth Kaufman, co-editor of Books Abroad, a monthly University Press publication, and professor of modern languages, has lately become editor of An Oklahoma Angle On Things Literary, the literary page of the Sunday Oklahoman.

The program announced by WNAD, is as follows:

Tuesday, November 15

7:20-7:50 Al Thomas talking on the Spanish-Indian background of Oklahoma government.

7:50-7:55 General announcements.

7:55-8:25 University of Oklahoma band presenting a special arrangement by Professor Milton Wehrend suitable for the statehood program.

8:25-8:35 Kenneth Kaufman introducing Stanley Vestal.

8:35-9:10 Stanley Vestal.
9:10-9:15 Announcements relative to Wednesday and Thursday night programs.

Wednesday, November 16

8:15-8:35 Introduction of Grant Foreman by Federal Judge Bob Williams.

8:35-9:10 Grant Foreman.

9:10-9:15 Announcements.

Thursday November 17

7:15-7:30 Chief Lookout introducing John Joseph Mathews.

7:30-8:15 John Joseph Mathews.

8:15-8:30 General announcements.

8:30-9:10 Doctor E. E. Dale speaking on the Indian in Transition.

WNAD, "The Voice of Soonerland," University of Oklahoma radio station, operates on 1010 kilocycles.