

Sooner roll call

Editor's note—Due to the limited space available to the magazine, a new system of abbreviations for the schools and colleges is introduced in this issue. These are: as for Arts and Sciences; fa for Fine Arts; sc for any science degree; eng for Engineering; pharm for Pharmacy; med for Medicine; ed for Education; he for Home Economics.

The closing date for this issue of The Sooner Magazine was September 17. The closing date for the next issue will be October 6. Please address to the editor any news happenings concerning Sooners. The editor welcomes kodak snaps of new Sooner babies. The MAGAZINE belongs to the Association but it represents the Association only in the degree that each member becomes a reporter.

DEATHS

ROBERT ROBINSON, '17ex, died July 2, in Muskogee as the result of a knife wound. Mr Robinson was an aviator in the World-war and had been a geologist for eight years in Mexican oil fields.

W. H. MARTIN, '30— W. H. Martin, who obtained his M. S. degree in education in '30, died August 26. Mr Martin was superintendent of schools at Loco.

JOE MAYES '25 ex.—Joe Mayes, '25ex, Sooner baseball star, died at his home in Pryor July 27 as the result of injuries received three years previously while playing with the St. Louis Cardinals and later with Pueblo. Mr Mayes, a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, played on three championship baseball teams of the university. One of the most popular of Sooner athletes, two tributes to him, one from the Muskogee Phoenix, the other from the Mayer County Republican of Pryor, reflect the high regard Sooners had of him.

Roy Harding writes in the Mayer County Republican:

"What a game little sport was Joe Mayes, the young Pryor athlete who died Thursday morning. Joe had a brilliant future ahead of him in baseball, but was suddenly afflicted several years ago, and had to give up his career. His friends marvelled at his cheerfulness in spite of his disappointment. To the end, he was cheerful, and as game as they make 'em.

"It was my privilege to know Joe during his highschool days when Joe was rated as the scrappiest, peppiest headiest little quarterback in northeast Oklahoma. He was one of that group of stellar athletes numbering Chad Kimsey and Mule McClain, who put Pryor on the athletic map. Later he and Chad played baseball together first at Muskogee, later at Tulsa and then joining the St. Louis Browns. Kimsey is still with the Browns, and plucky Joe Mayes would still be there had it not been his misfortune. Everything was done for him that science could do, but to no avail. Joe swallowed his disappointment and gave up baseball, contenting himself with the thought that he might again walk, although never again would he circle the bases. During the past few years, however, he had been counted "one of the gang" among the major league players who are today plunged in gloom at his passing.

"There are many in Vinita who remember Joe's great work on the football field, and whose hearts are saddened to think that he was cut off at the beginning of a promising career. "And of all the tributes to Joe Mayes, probably the best tribute is that given him by his intimate friends and associates: 'Joe was a game sport'."

The Muskogee Phoenix:

"Joe Mayes is dead.

"The little Pryor man, who at one time was regarded as an outstanding baseball prospect, died Thursday after a lingering illness which had forced his retirement early in the season of 1930. He was 30 years old.

"Mayes was the descendant of Cherokee chieftains and he inherited the courage, the daring and the stoicism of his forebears. Mayer county was named after his grandfather, and many of his kinsmen were prominent in early Indian history.

"Joe closed his career at the University of Oklahoma in a glorious manner. He captained the Sooner baseball team in 1927 and in the final game of the season O. U. played the Washington university club of St. Louis. Bill Beckham, who was later a sensation in the Western association was the Washington mound ace that year.

"For eleven innings Beckham baffled the Sooner batsmen, and turned them back without a run. For eleven innings Fay Coil burned his sputtering fast-ball into Mayes' big mit, and the Bears were also unable to tally. It was growing a bit dark when the twelfth opened, and Coil retired the Bears on strikeouts. But the first two Sooners who came to bat were also retired, and it appeared that the game might be ended by darkness. But it wasn't.

"Joe Mayes strode up to the platter and sunk his cleats into the turf to get a good toe-hold. Beckham fired the ball low and towards the outside of the plate. Mayes teed off, met the ball squarely, and drove it far over the cinder track that cut across the left field. He jogged around the bases and was carried off on the shoulders of yelling fans, who went into a frenzy when the little catcher socked the four-bagger.

"Joe joined the Muskogee Western association club during the season of 1927 and with big Chad Kimsey, who also lives at Pryor while not pitching for the St. Louis Browns, formed a colorful battery. Both Pryor stars went to Tulsa the following year, and in 1930 Mayes reported to the Pueblo spring training camp.

"Joe injured his hip while sliding, and voluntarily retired before the '30 season started. He took over the managerial duties at Keokuk in the Mississippi Valley league that year, acting as temporary manager while Hank Wingfield was on the suspended list for slugging an umpire. While at Keokuk, Mayes collapsed, and it was discovered that he had a serious bone infection of the hip. Although he apparently rallied after receiving treatment in a St. Louis hospital, he never recovered.

"Because of his friendly disposition and continual good humor through all of his misfortune, Joe was always surrounded by friends. His infectious smile was never missing, and he never lost interest in baseball.

"He was a great little guy."

SEARCY DOUGLAS, '20— Searcy Douglas, '20ex, manager of the Chickasha Gin company at Sayre, Oklahoma for the past seven years, was killed in an automobile accident August 4 near Bethany, Oklahoma. Mr Douglas was driving a heavily laden truck from Oklahoma City to Sayre, when he apparently fell asleep, the truck striking the abutment of the Bethany bridge; the force of the blow caused the trailer to crash through the truck, striking Mr Douglas. Mr Douglas came to Beckham county in 1902 and but for three and a half years in the university, has lived in Sayre or Erick.

CHARLES E. WIGGINS, '18—Charles E. Wiggins, '18ed, superintendent of schools at Sallisaw, Oklahoma, died August 4 at Fort Smith, Arkansas, as a result of burns received when preparing to return to the University of Oklahoma to complete his thesis for his master's degree. Mr Wiggins' son Howell was cleaning the automobile preparatory for the trip, using gasoline as the cleansing fluid, when the car caught fire. Mr Wiggins, noticing the car on fire, rushed from the house, seized a bucket he thought full of water but which was full of gasoline instead, and threw the contents on the blazing car. Mr Wiggins was severely burned but his son succeeded in extinguishing the flames burning his clothing. Born July 30, 1884 in New Blaine, Arkansas, Mr Wiggins attended the Universities of Arkansas and Oklahoma, his scholastic record at Oklahoma being straight "A." He served with the Britton school system, resigning there to become superintendent of schools at Boynton and later at Sallisaw. During the past six summers he was professor of history at Northeastern State Teachers college at Tahlequah. Last year he was president of the Northeastern Oklahoma Education association. He was one of the organizers of the Eastern Oklahoma Athletic association and was largely instrumental in improving the status of amateur high school athletics. Mr Wiggins is survived by his widow, two daughters and two sons.

J. B. CLAYTON '31 grad—Dr. Joseph B. Clayton, '31Ph.D., professor of history at Southeastern State Teachers college, died Sunday, August 21, at Livingston, Montana, where he was on a vacation trip with his family. Doctor Clayton was one of the first graduate students to obtain a doctor of philosophy degree from the university. He obtained his B. A. degree from Lake Forrest college, North Carolina in 1910 and his M. A. from the University of Chicago in 1921. He was a member of the faculty of Simmons college at Abilene, Texas, resigning there to accept the post at Southeastern in 1923. He is survived by his widow, a son and two daughters.

MISS FRANCES KEATING—Mrs Mary E. Keating and Miss Frances Keating, '22ex, mother and sister of Bernard Keating, '21ex, were fatally injured August 1 when their automobile turned over at Brookfield, Florida, only forty miles from Tampa. They were enroute on a vacation from New York to Tampa to visit Bernard.

Mrs Keating was assistant principal of Allegheny high school and Miss Frances had been teaching in Olean, New York. Bernard Keating is located at 5705 Branch avenue, Tampa, Florida.

YEAR BY YEAR

Mrs Alice Brittain Evans, '07as, received a library science degree in June from the Lady of the Lake college, San Antonio, Texas. Home, 609 West Olmos drive, San Antonio, Texas.

1911

Doctor Cassie Belle Rose, '11sc, graduate of Rush Medical School, who has had charge of the X-ray department of the Presbyterian hospital of Chicago for the past fifteen years, went to South America this year. She went via the Panama canal and visited all along the western coast. She is writing a book on X-ray.

1917

Fletcher Settle Riley, '17law, only thirty nine years old, will become chief justice of the state supreme court next January although it is the custom of this venerable body that the senior member in years and service shall occupy the highest seat and the average age of his fellow justices is fifty seven years. Justice Riley has served eight years on the supreme bench. His sports are tennis and pitching horseshoes. His proudest possession is his eight-year-old daughter.

1920

Lyle C. Wilson, '20ex, United Press man in charge of reporting congress, visited Norman June 21 and interviewed as part of a series Robert W. "Bep" Hutto, '10as, president of the Security National bank and Graham Johnson, '19as.

John C. 1923

Another 75,000 bushel corn crop is being anticipated at the Big V ranch of 10,000 acres, near Ponca City, owned by Kay Vansalous, '23, and Okla Vansalous, '28. The crop of white corn of the Big V is the source of much of the corn meal supply of the west. This is because for each bushel the Vansalous men are paid a premium over the market price for corn because of the meal value. This meal plays a prominent part in the mush and milk program in many of the homes of the country.

1926

Dr. Roland Beck, '26M. A., '32Ph. D., has accepted a position in the department of psychology and education at the Central State Teachers college, Edmond.

1928

Spencer Norton, '28as, is conducting a private studio in music in Oklahoma City. Mr Norton during the summer completed the orchestration for the ballet in The Tempest as presented by the university during the summer session under the direction of Professor John W. Dunn of the department of dramatic art.

Miss Wilda Griffin, '28ex, of Norman, has returned from three years spent in Italy studying voice and sang the lead in the Rose Maiden presented by the university at Norman July 22. She is completing her work in fine arts at the university for a B. F. A. degree.

Savoie Lottinville, '28journal, has returned from Oxford, England where he was a Rhodes scholar from Oklahoma for the past three years. He will probably enter teaching or journalism. He was graduated from the Honor School of Politics, Economics and Philosophy with second class honors. For two years he boxed against Cambridge for Oxford and is the second Sooner Rhodes scholar to be a blue. He is at present at home with his parents in Tulsa.

Miss Josephine Paxton, '29as, of Norman, has been named a member of the library staff of Tulsa high school.

Miss Mattie Veal, '29B.S., has accepted a position to teach in the new junior college at Bristow.

Miss Virginia Kramer, '31as, Phi Beta Kappa and a member of Mortar Board, who has had a school of expression and physical education in Bristow for the past four years, has opened a branch division of that school in Davenport. Her studio will be in the school building at Davenport according to Mr J. T. Day, superintendent.

Reuben K. Sparks, '31 law, has opened a law office in Woodward in the Hamblin building, Tenth and Main. After graduation from Oklahoma A. & M. college at Stillwater Mr Sparks worked a year in the commercial world before enrolling in the law school of the university.

Ray Bowerman, '31, has been appointed assistant manager of the Central Pharmacy, Altus, Oklahoma.

William L. Fogg, '31law, has been made a member of Fogg, Melone and Fogg, attorneys, at El Reno.

William Rowe Cook, '31law, Lambda Chi Alpha, has lately been appointed city attorney for Atoka. He is associated with his father, Judge I. L. Cook, in that city.

Glenn Dawson, '32as, Sooner track star, placed third in the trials for the steeplechase for the American Olympics team and represented America in that event at the Los Angeles races.

A. Clarence Smith, '32M.A., of Norman, has been named assistant professor of journalism in the school of journalism of the University of Oklahoma. During the summer he edited the Quannah (Texas) Tribune-Chief.

Who's Who On the Campus

One of the most outstanding and colorful players ever to grace Oklahoma's grid-iron is Paul Young, Norman. Fans who have watched the University's pig-skin heroes for years have rated Young as one of the greatest centers of all time, along with Roy Campbell '08, Roy Spears '11, Dow Ham '20, and Pollack "Polly" Wallace '26.

Certainly, if attainments are allowed to speak for themselves, Young ranks easily as one of the most outstanding players in this section. In 1928 he was selected as All-State Center while playing at Norman Highschool. In 1931 he was chosen as All "Big Six" by the Associated Press, and the same year was named on the All-American honor roll by the New York Sun. Few players in the southwest have attained such recognition.

A sure ball passer on the offensive, Young adds color to every game by his brilliant defensive work. One of his favorite stunts is to pass the ball back for a punt, then break through and beat the ends down for the tackle. This is his last year of varsity competition.

Young was married this summer to Elizabeth Mertes, a University of Oklahoma co-ed. They are at home in the Owen Apartments.

Football broadcast

Big Six football games will be broadcast this year as in the past, although there was some opposition to doing so at a meeting of the various athletic directors in Kansas City September 3.

The Big Six schedule

The complete schedule of Big Six football games for 1933 approved by the Big Six athletic directors at their September meeting follows:

October 14—Iowa State vs. Nebraska at Ames; Missouri vs. Kansas State at Manhattan.

October 21—Oklahoma vs. Iowa State at Norman; Nebraska vs. Kansas State at Lincoln.

October 28—Missouri vs. Iowa State at Ames; Kansas vs. Kansas State at Lawrence; Oklahoma vs. Nebraska at Lincoln.

November 4—Oklahoma vs. Kansas at Norman.

November 11—Kansas State vs. Iowa State at Ames; Nebraska vs. Kansas at Lincoln; Oklahoma vs. Missouri at Columbia.

November 18—Kansas vs. Iowa State at Lawrence; Oklahoma vs. Kansas State at Manhattan.

November 25—Missouri vs. Kansas at Lawrence.

November 30—Nebraska vs. Missouri at Columbia.

A NEW DEAL

opening game of the season October 1 at Norman when Tulsa university, coached by Elmer "Gloomy Gus" Henderson, former University of Southern California coach, invades. The Tulsa team began practice ten days earlier than the Sooners and has always been known as a fast starter. Last year the Golden Hurricane won its first seven games in whirlwind fashion, trimming Hendrix 27-0, Texas Christian university 13-0, Oklahoma Baptists 25-0, George Washington U. 24-7, Creighton 20-0, Phillips university 31-7 and Mexico university 89-0. The victory over Texas Christian was an especially fine achievement for the Tulsa team since the Horned Frogs later defeated Texas A. and M., Rice, Baylor, Louisiana State and Arkansas and played Ray Morrison's powerful Southern Methodist Mustangs to a scoreless draw.

However the Sooners, under Coach Lindsey, have also been noted for their fast get-aways. In 1930 they administered to mighty Nebraska the worst football licking the Cornhuskers had ever taken from a Missouri Valley school, 20 to 7, and last year knocked over the formidable Rice Owls 19 to 6, with only three weeks training.

Scheduling of the Tulsa game was made possible by the fact Tulsa university passed a freshman rule, Big Six conference rules forbidding competition against schools who play their freshmen. The Tulsa team should be powerful again this year, having lost only six of its thirty lettermen of last year, Howard, Dubie, Bailey, Grisham, Haubersin and the dashing fullback, Pilkington.

What looms now as the toughest game of the season is the second on the schedule, the one with Kansas at Lawrence October 8. Adrian Lindsey, Sooner coach for the past five years, recently accepted the job as Kansas backfield coach and has a thorough knowledge of the individual traits of every Sooner. But even if Lindsey weren't at Lawrence Coach Bill Hargiss has a heavy, powerful, experienced array of returning veterans at the Hilltop school this fall and some darn fine freshmen to go with them. Ormand Beach, probably as great a linebacker as was ever developed in the old Missouri Valley conference, is back at fullback this year for the Jaybirds after a two-year vacation and with him are other veteran huskies such as Schaake, Carnie Smith, Stuck, Atkeson, Casini, Hanson, Kvaternik, Zvolanek, Mehriinger, Burcham, Plaskett, Borello, Gridley, Plumley, Spangler, Brazil and Baker. Kansas lost but seven letter men by graduation last year, Foy, Rost, Kite, Page, Madison, Black and Frank "Pete" Bausch.

The third foe on the Sooner schedule is Texas, whom Oklahoma hasn't defeated since 1919. The Longhorns will be coached by Clyde Littlefield and retain a host of letter men in addition to their two great backs, Harrison Stafford and Earnie Koy. "Ox" Blanton, the 215-pound tackle who has beaten the Sooners the past two years with placekicks, has graduated and also Maurice "Dutch" Baumgarten, the fighting Dutch guard. Oklahoma meets Texas at Dallas on October 15, and by the way, reserved seats to this game have been reduced from $3 to $2.50, and it'll cost you only a quarter to get in the fair grounds this year.

Second foe to be met at Owen field this fall is Coach Alvin "Bo" McMillin's Kansas Aggies. The Purple has lost Cronkite, Auker, Ray McMillin, Harsh, Wiggins, Hraba, Stephenson, Teter, Fairbank and Pilcher and there were some great players in that bunch. McMillin retains fourteen lettermen including Captain Zeckser, Graham, Breen, Blaine, Hasler, Dalton, Bushby, Hanson, Doll, Michael, Neeley, Shaffer, Weybrew and Wertsberger. Kansas State seems to have suffered more heavily from graduation than any team in the Big Six conference save Oklahoma. Kansas State plays at Norman on October 22, Dad's Day.

On October 31 the Sooners trek to Stillwater for the annual game with Coach Lynn Waldorf's Oklahoma Aggies. The Farmers lost heavily by graduation last season. Such scrappers as Curtin, Martin, Duane Fisher, Oates, Dotter, Nemecek, Burleson, Peddy, Kingery, Haston, Trigg and Conrad Fisher have worn their last thigh pads for the Orange and Black. However it is hard to imagine Coach Waldorf coming up with a poor team, no matter what his material, and with Highfill, Collins, Turner, Pickett, Bruner, Watson, Clore and Dupree returning and a fair crop of sophomores too, the Aggies will be tough.

On Homecoming day this fall Frank Carideo, the famous quarterback of Knute Rockne's National Championship Notre Dame eleven of 1930, will bring the Missouri Tigers to Owen field. The date is November 5 and as Carideo and Hardage are the only new head coaches in the conference this season, the battle should be doubly interesting. Carideo will have a veteran outlay of players as the Tigers have lost only three of their regular starts from last year, Austin, Gladden and Bittner. Returning veterans include Stuber, Johanningmeier, Gill and Hatfield from the backfield and Porter, Swateck, McHarg, Denny, Hartman, Oth, Yeckel, Morgan, Kerby and Boekemeir from the line. The Tigers will be using the famous Notre Dame shift for the first time in the history of football at Missouri.

On November 12 the Sooners journey to Ames, Iowa to meet what was the surprise team of the conference last fall, Coach George Veenker's Iowa State Cyclones. Last year Iowa State beat the Sooners, 13 to 12, at Norman and won second place in the Big Six, losing only to Nebraska. Veenker is facing trouble since only seven regulars will return to him from last year's squad. However he retains Grefe, Schaforth and Impson, three good backs, and Templeton, Dixon, Smith and Beyer from his line and will fill in the gaps from what the Iowa State Sports News Service describes as "the best Cyclone prep team in history."

Nebraska, Big Six champions in 1931, retains nineteen of her twenty seven major letter winners and seven of nine minor letter winners and also will shout a welcome to her great Bohemian end, Steve Hokuf, all Big Six selection in 1930 but suspended from competition last season because of a harmless beer party. Besides Hokuf Coach Dana Bible will have Sauer (who scored both Nebraska touchdowns against the Sooners last year), Bauer, Masterson, Boswell, Penny, Mathis, Miller, Swanson, Joy, Durkee, Kilbourne, O'Brien, Hulbert, Schmitt, Scoggan, DeBus, Bishop, McPherson, Campbell, Ely and a splendid crop of freshmen. The Cornhuskers lose Adam, Koster, Justice, Rhea, Gilbert and Petz from their 1931 line and Kreiz-

The University of Oklahoma was not without music and drama, even in its childhood days. The arts flourished upon the campus under the direction of enthusiastic directors. One of the most interesting records of an early university production is this interesting picture of the cast and orchestra of an opera produced by students in 1912. The CHIMES OF NORMANDY, was an elaborate production. Under the capable direction of William E. Schmidt who directed the opera, and Mrs Eva E. Dungan who had charge of the music, the work was staged with such artistic success that CHIMES OF NORMANDY is still remembered by alumni and faculty members who were present then. Included in the picture are many well known people. Merle Newby, now Mrs Frank Buttram of Oklahoma City, '12mus, is shown as concert master; Mrs Frances Buchanan Tombs, '18 mus, is the daughter of the late Dr. J. S. Buchanan, former vice-president of the university; Dana Tisdell, '14, who is now dead, is described as having been one of the most brilliant musicians of that time.

inger, Paul and Lewis Brown from the backfield. Nebraska plays November 19 at Norman, and is probably Oklahoma's second toughest foe.

Nothing is known yet of George Washington university's 1932 strength, the team Oklahoma meets Thanksgiving afternoon, in a game that will feature Oklahoma Day at the Washington Centennial exposition at the national capital. George Washington's record last fall:

George Washington	53,	Shenandoah	0
George Washington	43,	Elon	0
George Washington	14,	Boston U.	0
George Washington	7,	Tulsa U.	24
George Washington	0,	Iowa U.	7
George Washington	45,	Salem	0
George Washington	32,	Butler	7
George Washington	6,	North Dakota	6

Ticket Reductions

The lowest "top" price for tickets since 1918 has been introduced this fall by Athletic Director Ben G. Owen. There will be no $2.50 seats this year. For the Nebraska, Kansas State and Missouri games at Norman, 15,000 reserved seats are available in the west wing of Memorial stadium for $2 each, plus the ten percent federal tax. The 12,000 general admission seats in the east wing of the stadium will retail at $1.50 each for the above-named games, plus the federal tax.

Even lower prices are being charged for the season's inaugural with Tulsa university here October 1. Reserved seats will sell for only $1.50 plus the tax and general admission seats for $1 plus the tax.

Student athletic tickets this year sell for $7 as compared with $8.50 last year and $10 three years ago. Boys and girls enrolled in the fifth to the ninth grade of school inclusive are eligible for the "Knot Hole" section in the east wing of the stadium provided they are properly enrolled with the Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A. and bring ten cents.

Biggest reduction of all comes in the price of seats for the Oklahoma-Texas game October 15 at Fair Park stadium, Dallas, Texas. Whereas box seats sold for $4 and reserved seats for $3 at this game last year, box seats are now $2.75 and reserved seats in the west side $2.50 and in the east side $2.20, tax included. And the Fair Park admission charge has been reduced from 50 cents to 25 cents as was written above.

Schedule for 1933

The big intersectional football game that Oklahoma City sports writers and some alumni have so persistently fought for became a reality this summer when Athletic Director Ben G. Owen announced that the Sooners would meet Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tennessee, at Norman in September of 1933. Vanderbilt's formidable record in the Southern conference has already been described in an early part of this story and it might be added here that she has also been highly successful in intersectional games. Against the University of Texas, which holds a two-to-one superiority of victories over the Sooners, Vanderbilt has won eight games, lost three and tied one. Vanderbilt has also defeated Navy, Carlisle, Minnesota and Ohio State in exhibition games. Last year the Commodores had a poorer team than usual yet defeated Ohio State of the Big Ten conference, scoring 27 points on the Buckeyes, although Ohio State had a good season, defeating Michigan 20-7, Indiana 13-6, Navy 20-0, Wisconsin 6-0 and Illinois 40-0 and losing only to Northwestern 0-10 and Minnesota 7-19. Incidentally those four touchdowns scored last fall by Vanderbilt against the powerful Ohio State team speak well for Hardage's ability to coach offensive football. He tutored the Vandy backs that ripped through the "Big Ten" team.

New System

In spite of the contention of some newspaper sports writers that all football systems are basically alike, Sooner fans this fall will recognize a distinct change in the way the Sooners line up and handle themselves. Coach Hardage has said that he will introduce the best features of both the Wallace Wade and Vanderbilt offensive systems, the Tennessee system of end play and adhere principally to the Wade system of defense with a little Tulane stuff thrown in.

New Uniform

Cooler, lighter football uniforms making for additional comfort and speed. Furnishing fully as much protection as the old-style uniform. Spiffier looking. That's one of many ideas Coach Hardage brought to Norman with him this fall.

The Sooners of 1932 will wear shorts that end at a point three inches above the knee and weigh a pound and a half less than the old-style pant. A light foamed rubber kneepad will protect the bare knee. Shinguards, also of foamed rubber, will protect the shins. The shoes will be light. Cotton jerseys will be worn instead of woolen ones and they will be white with large red numbers on the back and smaller ones on the front. The new Sooner head gear, padded with foamed rubber, will weigh but eight ounces.

"You wouldn't believe it but this outfit cuts a full second off a player's time for 100 yards," claims Coach Hardage.

EDITOR

Lynden Mannen, '27as, of Norman, has been made editor of the "Oklahoma Municipal Review" published by the Oklahoma Municipal League. Mr Mannen has been managing editor of the monthly and is also acting secretary of the League
