

Homecoming

THE 1933 Homecoming celebration was one of those affairs at which too many things happened too rapidly on too many different fronts for any one person to have experienced it all.

Rumblings of the impending weekend carnival were heard in Soonerland two days before radiator caps were pointed toward Oklahoma City, the first oasis on the line of march that led to fraternity row, the Oklahoma Union, the oval and Memorial stadium, Owen field. A pretty blonde Homecoming queen, Frances Graham, '35fa, Tulsa, was lured from the Gamma Phi Beta house and kidnaped. The Ruf Nek mascot, Mike, was stolen from the Acacia backyard. The Campus seethed.

With preliminary attractions well under way, the curtain on the main act—the return of alumni to Soonerland—was raised Homecoming eve as more than five hundred Sooners swarmed to the Biltmore hotel ballroom for the dinner-dance and an equal number came direct to Norman.

The highways, cut-offs and transportation lines were jammed Saturday morning as the celebration gained impetus, and by noon, the varsity corner and Oklahoma Union were clogged with alumni. A gray, threatening sky failed to dampen the spirits of the brave-of-heart and also the well-sodded Sooner gridiron.

Game time brought a halt to all side-shows and Coach Lewie Hardage's sophomore demons and Coach Adrian Lindsey's powerhouse Kansas Jayhawks took the main ring before 11,400 fans, counted and audited by Bill Cross, '09as, athletic association secretary. The game itself, was a feather-picking bee, with the Sooners plucking pin-feathers from the harassed Jayhawk to the final damage of 20 to 0.

It was the second worst defeat Oklahoma has ever plastered on the Kansans in thirty-one years of football competition. Only in 1918, did Oklahoma win by a more pronounced advantage. The score of that game was 33 to 0.

Homecoming night was spent informally, just how informally was a matter of personality. The student council dance in the Union ballroom drew a crowd of alumni who still had dance steps to spare after the alumni reception and dansant immediately following the game in the Union and the Friday night dance. Hundreds crooked a finger and dropped in on fraternities and sororities to wait for a new day before turning tail lights to Norman.

the Biltmore, arranged by the Oklahoma City alumni association and then disarranged by the Oklahoma Alumni association at large, was the most attended, most successful and most hilarious ever held.

From the speakers table, President Bizzell proclaimed the gathering "the largest group of alumni I have ever seen assembled in one meeting."

With Judge Earl Foster, '12as, '13law, Oklahoma City, calling the signals from the main table there was everything except speeches. There were jokes, songs, cheers, words spoken extemporaneously and more jokes, jibes and songs. Fisher Ames, '30law, president of the Oklahoma City association, welcomed the guests to the capital city.

Among those whom Foster called upon were Athletic Director Ben G. Owen, Coach Hardage, Mrs. Adrian Lindsey, Lawrence, Kansas, Frank S. Cleckler, Coach John "Bo" Rowland, the assistant coach and athletic department's contribution to after-dinner entertainment, Herbert K. Hyde, United States district attorney, Lewis Morris, Oklahoma county attorney, and scores of others, including most of the state supreme court.

A pep meeting was scheduled for the lobby after the dinner, but a pep rally would have been an anti-climax after the dinner. All the pep five hundred persons could have turned loose across the dinner tables.

In the meantime, Big Chief Ed McCurtain, '35as, Oklahoma City, was directing the annual Indian club initiation rites on the Soonerland campus. A pep meeting on the varsity corner preceded the teepee ceremonies at which Kay Harrison, '37as, Po-teau, was given the Big Chief's approval as Indian Princess for the day. Tom-toms throbbed all night welcoming alumni back to the big University stomping grounds.

The parade through Norman was the Homecoming morning attraction. More than a score of floats headed by the University band and Martha Davis, '34as, Guthrie, queen No. 3, drew alumni and students on the streets early in the morning.

The alumni entries came just behind the band and pep clubs. A coach belonging to Pawnee Bill was one of the vehicles manned by alumni. Other alumni rode on horses, firing revolvers in the air at imaginary Jayhawks.

Of the student floats which competed for a prize, the one of the freshman law class was declared winner. It showed a judge at his bench about to sentence the rival engineers either to the "noose" or to A. and M. College. "The noose or the Aggie school" was the placard on the judge's bench. Engineers took second place with a "big bad wolf," labelled "Aggies," barking at the engineering college doorstep.

At noon, the Oklahoma Alumni executive board members met at a luncheon in the Union. With President Chester H. Westfall, '16as, Ponca City, presiding, the governing group took up the matter of a budget and nominated several of its membership to the athletic council, the final appointment to be made by President Bizzell. The executive board of Oklahoma A. and M. college should be invited to attend the Sooner-Aggie Thanksgiving game and meet in joint session with the state university board, the Sooners decided.

Little skirmishes at the football game provided side attractions for the football fans during timeouts and lulls in the game. A total of eleven, most of them neither alumni nor students, were escorted to wide-open spaces by the protectors of law and order during the game. State newspapers called the altercations "unfortunate," and it was generally agreed that persons not connected with the University were mainly to blame for the fistic encounters.

Homecoming activities were prefaced on the campus with the kidnaping of the Ruf Neks queen. Here are Wilson Brown, '36as, Oklahoma City, and Walter Emery, the intercollegiate golf champion, '37law, Shawnee, loading Queen Frances Graham, '35fa, Tulsa, into a car after luring her from the Gamma Phi Beta house.

On the field, the Sooner gridmen were treating the Jayhawks just as roughly. Ben Poynor, burly fullback of Weleetka, was on top of an unfortunate backfield ace behind Kansas' goal in the first period to give Oklahoma a safety and a two-point lead. From then on, it was just a matter of "how much" rather than "who."

Quarterback Bob Dunlap, of Haskell, ran across a touchdown and Melborne "Nigger" Robertson, the Seminole lad who last fall had so much trouble deciding where he would go to school, hit his stride and dashed across for a second touchdown.

Big Orville Corey, 225-pound tackle of Calumet, accounted for the third score when John Miskovsky, end of Oklahoma City, blocked a kick and Corey recovered it behind the Kansas line. Coach Hardage thought it would be a good day to try out the third team, so before the Sooners' new electric clock ticked away the final period thirty-one Sooners, almost three teams, had had a hand in plucking the hapless Jayhawk.

Several hundred alumni shifted their attention to the Union ballroom for post-game entertainment immediately after the last gun. With the Norman alumni association as host, a reception and dance was held informally under the direction of Harold Belknap, '25as, president of the Norman group. Other alumni scattered out into groups.

As the rumblings of a great Homecoming celebration died away, little aftermaths provided an epilogue on the campus.

The Ruf Neks had given their "profane" yell between halves when they escorted their recaptured queen onto the field. It was the same "profane" yell which last year brought torrents of reproof down on the heads of Jazz Hounds. They promised never to yell the words publicly again. But the Ruf Neks had gone ahead. Conferences and sub-conferences were held with the final announcement made to Harry Kornbaum, '35bus, Enid. The Ruf Neks were ordered inactive until their case could be laid before the board of regents at the December meeting. The next day, as Jazz Hounds prepared to make the trip to Columbia to the Oklahoma-Missouri game, they too were ordered inactive when Lead Hound Baxter Taylor, '36law, Oklahoma City, admitted they had given the yell at pep meetings. Whether they will be allowed to reorganize will rest with the regents who reinstated them two years ago after the orders had been abolished after rough initiations.
