

the state senate from the Cleveland-McClain-Garvin counties district; and engaged in private practice in Purcell from 1927 to 1933.

T. Jack (600) Foster, '29ex, owner University cleaners. Foster was elected mayor of Norman while he was a student at the University and served two terms; ex-president of the Kiwanis club and prominent in civic club work; founder of the University Cleaners when he was a student; and Life member (2-5-0) Stadium-Union Memorial fund.

District 6

(One to be elected.)

Mell A Nash, '19as, '27M.A., Chickasha, president of the Oklahoma College for Women. Nash is a former state superintendent of public instruction; has been president of O. C. W. since 1927 and was recently elected for the coming year; a Life member (2-5-0) Stadium-Union Memorial fund; and active in Oklahoma educational affairs.

Ned Shepler, '18ex, Lawton, editor. Shepler is editor and publisher of the Lawton Constitution, daily newspaper; and is a past president of the Oklahoma Press association.

Emmett Thompson, '26as, '26law, El Reno, attorney. Thompson is now county judge of Canadian county; is a past president of the Canadian County Alumni club; treasurer of the League of Young Democrats; and during his undergraduate days was president of the senior law class, a Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Alpha Delta, Toga, Jazz Hound, Monnet bar, varsity debater, varsity orator and member of the Interfraternity council.

Along the Sports Front

BY HAROLD KEITH, '28journ.

A BASEBALL team that appears to be on its way to a state championship, a track team that should place second or third in the Big Six outdoor and a green but promising tennis team are giving Sooner sports fans more than enough thrills this spring.

The ball club of Coach Lawrence "Jap" Haskell won a pair of hot games from the Oklahoma Aggies on the Sooner field and trimmed Central State Teachers college, Edmond, after dropping three inter-sectional contests to the Texas Christian Horned Frogs that have one of the best college teams in the country.

The track team that placed second in the Big Six indoor meet walked away with the Oklahoma Amateur track and field meet held April 7 at the University. Oklahoma Aggies placed second and Oklahoma Baptist University third in the second annual event. Eight of the fifteen records were broken.

Glenn Cunningham, world's champion indoor miler, established a new world's record in beating Glen Dawson, ex-Sooner, and Harold Manning, Wichita, Kansas, A. C. star, in a special 1,000-yard run. Cunningham's new mark appears to have a good chance of being accepted as official. Avery Brundage, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, wrote to University athletic authorities:

"If the officials were competent and the regulations were complied with, there is no reason why a record cannot be allowed," Brundage wrote, "Regarding Lambertus' hurdles record, I do not believe the 120-yards low hurdles race is a standard event. However if you will fill out a form it may be accepted as a noteworthy performance."

In the Oklahoma Amateur meet here April 7, Cunningham ran the 1,000 yards in 2 minutes 11.1 seconds. The old world's record, held by Ellis, Great Britain, was 2 minutes 11.2 seconds. Lambertus ran the 120-yard low hurdles in 13.1 seconds. Best mark listed in Spalding's guide in this event is 13.4 seconds, set in 1919 by Fred Loomis.

Sooner sports heroes of past and present are the chief motif of murals now being painted on the walls of the University Fieldhouse by Doug Barham, Oklahoma's Big Six conference high jump champion, an art student.

Already Barham has sketched action pictures of Glen Dawson, great distance runner, finishing fast against Cunningham of Kansas in the 4:12 Knights of Columbus mile last March at New York city; "Nig" Robertson, Sooner halfback, cutting around end for a gain against Kansas with Art Pansze blocking out a Jayhawker; "Hippo" Howell pushing the shot, etc. All are sketched from actual photographs.

Barham is doing the work as a class assignment for a course in mural painting and plans to reproduce a scene from almost every Sooner sport before he finishes.

Harold "Pun" James, former Sooner football and track athlete, has been named head football coach at Tulsa Central high school. James was freshman football and varsity basketball coach at Oklahoma A. and M. college.

Vic Holt, Oklahoma's all-Missouri Valley basketball center of 1928, has remarried. His wife is Miss Rowena Turner of Oklahoma City. Holt is now a successful tire salesman with the Good-year Rubber company.

Four former Oklahoma basketball captains attended a banquet given the 1934 team by the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. They were Hugh McDermott, '18, Gene West, '27, Roy LeCrone, '28 and Bruce Drake, '29.

Gordon Clark, the University's sophomore firstbaseman from Okmulgee, is the son of Gordon Clark, sr., former Chicago university athlete and football coach at the University of Texas in 1899. The elder Clark is now a lawyer at Okmulgee.

Richard Soutar, University track coach back in 1914, is now connected with the department of health and development at Sacramento, California high school.

Dan Short, who in 1900, '01, '02 and '03 played end and fullback on the Sooner football team, is now a successful farmer living west of Norman. Each year Short farms several hundred acres of wheat near Felt in Cimarron county.

Walter Emery, University of Oklahoma's National Collegiate golf champion, shot 319 in 72 holes of medal play at Bobby Jones' golf tournament at Augusta, Georgia.

Who were the outstanding wrestlers at the recent National Collegiate tournament at Ann Arbor, Michigan? Coaches voted the honor to Ben Bishop of Lehigh university. The Michigan Daily says that Wayne Martin, Sooner National 135-pound champion, the only sophomore to win a title, was a close second and ranked Ross Flood, Oklahoma Aggie, third.