the chapter records of Beta Theta Pi, is head of the FERA cannery in Tulsa.

1909

Piere Larkin, '09as, Tulsa geologist, is one of a comparatively small number of alumni whose address card in the University Alumni association office has remained unchanged over a long period of years. His address has been listed at 1440 South Norfolk, Tulsa, for many years. Larkin is a Life Member of the association.

Issues of This Week, weekly newspaper supplement, of which Ray Haun, '12as, is Detroit business manager, are now appearing. The supplements are printed in New York and distributed with more than twenty of the country's largest newspapers. Haun became one of its several business managers when publication was started late in the winter. This Week specializes in short fiction by well known writers.

While the world talks war, a glance back into the University of Oklahoma yearbook of 1919 reveals that just sixteen years ago an entire edition of the annual was dedicated to Sooners who fought and died in the World war.

Only sixteen years ago, the yearbook was called the Victory Sooner and was dedicated "In Memoriam" to Sooners who died in action. They were Fred Allen, '08; James Avery, '22; Dick Breeding, '16; Walter Drew, '18; Lewis Isle, '19;
John Kates, '12; Charles Milam, '15; Arnold Rasmussen, '20; Homer Stocking, '18; Wesley Grube,
'19; George R. Anderson, '16; R. E. Alexander,
'14; E. Hardin Davis, '18; Eloise Eagleton, '18;
Benjamin G. Jones, '17; Lonnie Lyon, '18; S. J.
McAdams, '21; Wakefield Revelle, '19; Louis B.
Southerland, '20; Henry G. Adams, '15; Charles S.
Price, '18; Meade Frierson, faculty; Robert Hull, faculty; and F. B. Sorgatz, faculty.

The Victory Sooner said:

"The University of Oklahoma was a real 'win
the war' institution for more than eighteen months.

"From April 6, 1917, until November 11, 1918, the university participated heart and soul
in the world movement to abolish those famous twins, Kaiser and Kultur, from the face of the earth.

"An enviable record was established along nine distinct lines. These were: furnishing man power for the army, maintaining a Student Army Training Corps on the campus, maintaining vocational training units on the campus, maintaining Oklahoma food administration for nine months, furnishing war lecturers and material for war speakers, lending members of the faculty to the government for special war work, training medical officers in orthopedic surgery, offering special courses to prepare students for military service, and keeping up the morale of the people through current events study contests."

1922

W. D. Hamm, '22as, geologist for the Shell Petroleum corporation, has been called to the home office of his company at The Hague in Holland. He will spend six months there in European training before returning to the United States. Hamm was accompanied by his wife, Helen Berry Hamm, '22ex, and their children.
Only the most promising of the Shell corporation
geologists are given the advantage of the European training.

Mrs. Louise Winn Getchell, '22as, since last April has been assistant cataloger at the University of Maryland library, College Park. Mrs. Get-chell's home address is Apartment 310, 2504
Tenth Street, N.E., Washington, D.C.

1923

Joseph W. Hicks, '23as, publicity director for Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation, Chicago, was a speaker before members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, recently on the campus. Hicks spoke on national political and business affairs. He was accompanied to Norman from Oklahoma City by Bill Martineau, editor of the Oklahoma Livestock News.

A unique announcement of the birth of a child to Loy G. Horn, '23chem, and Mrs. Wilma Bills Horn, '25fa, Hermosa Beach, California, was received recently by friends on the University campus.

Printed on white letter paper, the announcement was headed, "A brilliant Performer," and went on to say:

"The beauty of this latest creation challenges
and holds the eye—

"Stream-lined, Mono-piece, Body bright red, Trimmed in pink, Headlights blue, Top black—

"Extra heavy construction, Net weight without extras—7 pounds 15 ounces—

"Double bellows, Multi-tone Klaxon has lusty wail, heard easily (and often) at night—

"Fuel intake regular (Vacuum Tank Type)—
 "Uses 'Standard fuel'—
 "Will not vapor lock (We hope, we hope, we hope)—
 "Exhaust automatic—
 "Rumble seat specially upholstered, well padded, and enclosed—
 "Requires garage for one Doctor's Packard—
 "Knee-action—
 "Double five-fingered clutch—
 "Absolutely the sweetest thing in diapers—
 "L. G., himself, designer and chief engineer—
 "W. M., in person, production manager—
 "Production slightly ahead of schedule—
 "On display at the Hermosa Beach showroom of Horn and Horn after March 25.
 "Listen for the Horn."
