Who's Who On the Campus

A pair of senior engineers who were given much of the responsibility of directing a successful St. Patrick's celebration are, left, Bill Bednar, Chickasha, and, right, Bill Marriott, Oklahoma City.

Marriott, as president of the O. U. Engineering club, has been planning all year the many attractive features on the program and has been responsible for seeing that everything went off smoothly. Bednar has done a lot more than his share.

Both are outstanding students and make unusually high grades, Bednar's average being one of the highest in the senior class. He also belongs to numerous honorary societies, including Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau, Sigma Gamma Epsilon and Toga.

Marriott is president of the O. U. branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers and was a member of St. Pat's Council last year as well as this year.

In planning the annual engineering celebration that starts in mid-week with a picture show and includes events all the way through the annual banquet of Saturday, both have been ready and willing workers.

On the colorful program of events are the parade Friday morning, the coronation of the queen and the disclosing of the identity of St. Patrick, and a full-day's radio program from WNAD, University broadcast station.

The Openhouse displays are open for inspection Friday afternoon. The banquet at which the Knights of St. Pat are honored is held on Saturday night. The engineers get back to the humdrum of study on Monday morning.
