

Frank Cleckler picked up Wrestling Coach Paul Keen, Baseball Coach Lawrence "Jap" Haskell, Basketball Coach Hugh McDermott and Varsity Gridman Ben Poynor and took out for El Reno and Clinton.

Fifty turned out for the El Reno Kiwanis club luncheon. Informal sessions were held in the lobby of the Southern hotel after the noon meal.

A band greeted the party of six when they pulled into Clinton late that afternoon. While the trumpets blared Boomer-Sooner, Bert Meacham, '18law, and Percy Main, '34ex, conducted the party to a dinner at the Methodist church. Two hundred alumni and football fans from Clinton, Sayre, Elk City, Cordell, Weatherford, Hinton and Frederick were on hand. Main was chairman of the committee and Meacham was toastmaster.

More informal sessions were held before the six again turned toward Norman at 10:30 P.M.

Guthrie, Perry and Enid were on the program for the next day. Dr. Guy Y. Williams, '06as, '10M.A., chief executive of the athletic council, joined the party, as did Football Coach Paul Young, '35as, and Harold Keith, '27as, director of sports publicity.

Gordon Bierer, '21as, member of the alumni association executive board, was toastmaster at the noon luncheon at the Ritzhauph cafe in Guthrie. Fifty attended the meeting.

Twenty were on hand for a curb-stone meeting at 3 o'clock at Perry before the group had to leave for Enid.

Doctor Williams, who is an alumnus of Enid high school, '02, was the chief introducer of the evening. Carl Ford, '19as, was toastmaster and Ralph Miller, '24bus, was general chairman. A crowd of 150 attended the dinner.

After the meeting, informal sessions were held at the Youngblood hotel and the group was steered to the newspaper office for interviewing. About midnight they started home.

Other dinners have been planned for Hobart, Altus, Duncan, Lawton and nearby places during the summer while Captain Jones is at Fort Sill.

The Board Elects

EARL FOSTER, '12as, '13law, Oklahoma City attorney, was elected president of the Alumni association executive board at its commencement-homecoming meeting on the campus.

He succeeds Lewis Morris, '15as, '15M.A., '17law, Oklahoma county attorney, as president. Other officers elected were Lowry H. Harrell, '16law, Ada attorney, first vice-president; Mrs. Floy Elliott Cobb, '17as, Tulsa homemaker, second vice-president; George D. Morgan, '17as, San Angelo geologist, vice-president for Texas; and Frank S. Cleckler, '21as, secretary-treasurer.

Results of the annual executive mail ballot were announced and the five new members were seated. They were R. W. Hutto, '10as, Norman banker, and J. Malcolm "Bud" Gentry, '15as, state highway commissioner, Enid, members at large; Dave Logan, '16as, state senator and geologist, Okmulgee, district two; Lowry H. Harrell, Ada, district four; and Buffington "Buff" Burtis, '27as, Clinton editor and publisher, district seven.

The meeting was held in the Oklahoma Union following the commencement luncheon. Plans were made for activities for the coming year and routine business was handled.

Members of the Alumni association executive board attending the meeting at commencement time were Frank S. Cleckler, secretary-treasurer, Norman; Earl Foster, Oklahoma City; Lewis R. Morris, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Kitty Shanklin Rountree, Oklahoma City; Buffington "Buff" Burtis, Clinton; Lowry H. Harrell, Ada; T. Jack Foster, Norman; A. G. C. "Gordon" Bierer, Guthrie; Dave Logan, Okmulgee; R. W. Hutto, Norman; and Ernie Hill, editor of the "Sooner Magazine," Norman.

Here are Sooners who have been in the headlines recently, or who have made contributions in their various fields of interest. At the top, left, is Tully Nettleton, '23as, who has been writing a series of articles for the "Christian Science Monitor" from Washington, D.C. To his right is Dr. J. Willis Stovall, assistant professor of geology who was named by the board of regents director of the University museum of vertebrate paleontology. Dr. Robert K. Carr, instructor in government, was awarded the Robert Toppan cash prize of two hundred dollars in June for the best work of the year at Harvard in political science. Carr's doctor's thesis, written during the year on the campus, was the manuscript considered for the prize. In the second row, left, is Lewis R. Morris, '15 as, '15M.A., '17law, Oklahoma county attorney, who just completed an unusually successful year as president of the Alumni association executive board. Under the leadership of Mr. Morris, the association showed great progress. To his right is Charles C. Miles, '22as, manager of the University book exchange who is becoming one of the outstanding book experts in the middle west. Miles, with J. L. Rader, '08as, '13M.A., University librarian, has made numerous profitable book purchases for the University library and the book exchange. Under Mr. Miles' managership, the exchange has become an interesting University project.

The Sooner golf team that won the state and Big Six championships is shown here with Coach Bruce Drake, '29as, kneeling. The team members are Art St. John, medalist in the state tournament; Harry Gandy, medalist in the Big Six tournament; Maurice Hankinson, probably the most consistent of the four; and Walter Emery, national collegiate champion in 1933.
