

All-Sports Champs

THE school year of 1934-35 will long be remembered in the sports world as the year during which Sooner sport teams made a clean sweep of spring championships to win the all-sports championship.

The Oklahomans cinched the baseball title on one Saturday and the following Saturday won track, tennis and golf championships to overcome a lead held by Kansas State in all-sports standings.

Of the ten recognized conference sports races, the Sooners won five championships, two second places, two third places and a tie for fourth in the swimming meet with its one-man team of Jack Davis.

A title was won in wrestling to go with the four spring championships. Second places were taken in two-mile team racing and indoor track, while thirds were gained in football and basketball. The swimming meet was the only competition in which the Oklahomans finished in the second division of the conference.

The all-sports title has been won by Oklahoma four times since the Big Six conference was organized seven years ago. The Sooners won the all-around championship during the last two years they were members of the Missouri Valley conference.

Upsher and Rollins Win Tennis Championship

Sooner tennis players won both singles and doubles championships to take the annual Big Six tournament.

Al Upsher and Al Rollins turned the trick for Oklahoma. Upsher won the singles, beating Art Voss, Kansas, 11-9, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. It was a grudge battle since Voss whipped Upsher for the title last year.

Upsher and Rollins trounced Richard Zoesch and James Shafter, Nebraska, to win the doubles crown. The score was 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

The Sooners had six points toward the title. Kansas had four, Iowa State two, Nebraska and Missouri one and Kansas State none.

Oklahoma Takes Big Six Track and Field Meet

When Coach John Jacobs' track team scored 55 points in ten track events while annexing the Big Six outdoor championship at Lincoln, Nebraska, they set an all-time conference scoring record in races only.

Second to Oklahoma's 55 points in track events alone, during the seven years of Big Six meets is Kansas's 46 tallied in the 1933 conference meet, the year Coach Bill Hargiss's Jayhawkers won 8 of the 9 track events. The 880-yard relay wasn't run that year.

The Sooner showing even surpasses all performances listed in the 21-year-old history of old Missouri Valley conference meets from the first in 1908 through 1928. Best performance during that period was Missouri's 50, scored in 1918 when the Tigers had Scholz, Pittam and Sylvester. Only four places were scored that year but at Lincoln last month, Oklahoma won no fifth places.

Best field event performance ever recorded in a Big Six conference meet was the smashing total of 47.33 amassed by Coach Henry "Indian" Schulte's 1933 Nebraska squad. The Cornhuskers that year placed four men in the discus, three in each the javelin, shot and broad jump, and two in each the pole vault and high jump.

Missouri's team of 1912 had the best field event record in the old Missouri Valley loop, scoring 25 points in the five field events, Nicholson winning the broad and high jumps and Thatcher the discus and shot. There was no javelin then.

Most points ever scored in both track and field events in a Big Six outdoor meet was Nebraska's 71.33 at Lincoln in 1933. The old Missouri Valley conference record in this regard is Missouri's 62, made in the 1918 meet at old Rollins field, Columbia, Missouri.

Kansas's feat of winning 8 of the 9 track events in 1933 also stands out as a great team achievement.

The score by teams was Oklahoma 65.5, Kansas State 53, Nebraska 36, Iowa State 32, Missouri 29, and Kansas 24.5.
