

Seniors of 1936 on the job

REPORTS from approximately one-third of the University's graduating class of 1936 indicate that the new crop of alumni fitted themselves quickly into a great variety of business and professional tasks.

Of the more than three hundred new graduates who reported to the alumni office, only three listed themselves as unemployed.

Indicative of the University's growing cosmopolitanism is the fact that nearly fifty of the group reporting are established in work which they found outside of Oklahoma. Members of the class of '36 spread to a dozen states and to British Columbia to pursue their chosen occupations.

You can find a Sooner interior decorator in Dallas, Texas, a seismologist in Los Angeles, Calif., and a tobacco company employe in Yonkers, N.Y. Other states invaded by members of '36 are Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, Michigan, Louisiana, New Mexico and Arkansas.

Three law graduates of '36 are established outside Oklahoma. Shannon L. Morris is located at Goose Creek, Texas; John H. Falks is in the title division of the Standard Oil company office at Shreveport, La., and Floyd Allen Calvert, Jr., is in the legal department of the Pure Oil company, at Olney, Ill.

Those reporting that they are practicing law in Oklahoma are: K. D. Greiher, Enid; W. G. Stockton, Lindsay; William H. Warren, Holdenville; Allen H. Wilson, Chandler; Sullivan G. Ashby, Oklahoma City; Reed Crites, Bartlesville; Tom Finney, Tulsa; H. L. Gasaway, Hennessey; and Richard E. Romang, Fairmont.

Romang is practicing in the offices of Charles W. Schworke, graduate of the University law school in 1930. Stockton made a trip to Europe this fall, visiting nine of the principal countries.

Engineering graduates have scattered far and wide. Sue Aycock is employed in the administrative offices of Albert Kahn, Inc., architects and engineers, Detroit, Mich. Bessie Kniseley is a draftsman for the Oklahoma State Highway commission, Oklahoma City. Jack N. Keck is in the transformer testing department of the Maloney Electric company, St. Louis, Mo. Tolbert E. Smith, who is doing air-conditioning work with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Mansfield, Ohio, writes: "Need a lot more Oklahomans in this part of the country. Haven't seen anyone from school since I left."

Carl B. Vance is employed as an engineer for the Bailey Meter company at Cleveland, Ohio, and Charles M. McCaleb is employed with the same company. John E. Grady is with the Combustion Engineering company in New York.

H. Lawrence Peek reported he was working in a research laboratory of the Westinghouse company at Wilkesburg, Pa., as part of the Westinghouse graduate student course. Wade A. Eskridge is working as mechanical engineer in Oil City, Pa. Eskridge writes that a party consisting of himself, Charles McCaleb and Carl Vance, of Cleveland, and Roy Ewing, of Oil City, all members of the '36 mechanical engineering class, were weekend guests of H. V. Beck, former University faculty member, October 17 and 18 at Erie, Pa.

Turning to Sooner engineers who are working in their home state, we find Francis S. Livermore working as natural gas engineer at Ada; Fred Krause located at Shawnee, and Claude Kirkman at Paden. A. L. Fuller is an apprentice engineer with the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company at Oklahoma City, and Harold Feldstein and J. Edwin Byers also are located in Oklahoma City.

Frank A. Benesh is a draftsman at Lawton, and W. Wesley Wood is engineer for the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company at Oklahoma City.

Phillip F. Wight is with the O. G. & E. at Enid. Hugh Warren Smith is apprentice electrician with the same company at Oklahoma City, and adds "like my work fine." Alvin C. Turner is in the construction department of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, Oklahoma City.

Joe Barsalow, Hugh Luffman and Hampton Corniel, 1936 graduates of the college of engin-

A good portion of the 1936 graduates are represented in this article, but many names are missing. The Sooner Magazine would like to tell what these others are doing and where they are located. A postcard mailed now will get the information to us in time for the next magazine.

cering, all are employed at the Baytown, Texas, refinery of the Humble Oil and Refining company. Luffman and Barsalow are doing engineering work for the technical service division, and Corniel is engaged in research work for the development department.

Frank L. Emert is working in the engineering department of the Phillips Petroleum company, and is located at Whittenburg, Texas.

Journalism graduates have ventured in advertising, editorial work and radio. Hoyte Allen is staff writer for radio station WLS, Chicago. He has two commercial programs of a humorous nature, one heard daily at 1:40 p.m. and another a "Tall Story Club" at 7:30 p.m. Saturdays. His radio character name is "Pokey Martin."

Conrad Manley is police and city hall reporter for the Port Arthur (Texas) News, his address being Orange City, Texas. Bob Lee Kidd, Jr., is advertising manager of the Anadarko Daily News, and Kenneth Charles Jung is a district manager for the Tulsa Tribune, in Tulsa.

Suzanne Arnote, former editor of the Oklahoma Daily, is a reporter on the Daily Oklahoman staff, Oklahoma City, and Frances Townsend is a reporter on the Anadarko Daily News. Helen M. Sims is doing advertising work in Tulsa. Donald J. Morrison was employed for a short time after graduation on the advertising staff of the Perry Daily Journal, and now is assistant supervisor of publications for the Continental Oil company, Ponca City, Okla.

Ten graduates of '36 have reported placement in library work of various kinds. Ruth Killebrew is reference librarian in the public library at Kansas City, Kan. Cornelia Eastland is assistant librarian at Central State Teachers college, Edmond, and Kathryn Dibbens is librarian at Guthrie. Dorothy Burge is Junior High school librarian at Ponca City, and Mildred Leecraft Williams is employed as cataloger in the library of Southeastern State Teachers college, Durant.

Other graduates are doing library work in the following places: Mary Ann Wentroth, Mangham, La.; Willard B. Watson, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Ima Venable, Pawhuska; Pauline Dawn Pitts, Boswell, and Carmi Harrald, Oklahoma City.

Nearly a score of '36 seniors have reported placements with oil companies as geologists or seismologists or other related work. W. Dixon Morris is petroleum engineer with the United Gas system, Shreveport, La. Three list themselves as seismologists: M. H. Gilmore, Los Angeles, Calif.; Roscoe Stahl, Tahoka, Texas; and Earl Bernard Massengill, Houston, Texas. Gilmore writes that he has a permanent position with the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. "My work is in the geophysics of earthquakes, and is very interesting," he says.

Henry J. Stewart is with the production department of the Stanolind Oil and Gas company, Refugio, Texas. Neil W. Mann is a geophysicist at Dallas, Texas. Joseph R. Barsalou, Jr., is a chemical engineer with the Humble Oil and Refining company at Baytown, Texas, doing process control work for the technical service department. William C. Hewitt is chemical engineer for the Phillips Petroleum company, at Borger, Texas. Charles S. Wise is with the Gulf Refining company, at Fort Worth, Texas, and Richard M. Ashley is a geologist at Shreveport, La.

Sadig Tabatabacy Turabi, whose home is in Tabriz, Iran, is working as petroleum engineer for the Reed Roller Bit company in Houston, but is planning to return to Iran next March to work for the Anglo-Iranian Oil company, located in the southern part of Persia. His address then will be c/o A.I.O.C., Abadan, Iran.

Donald F. Newell is working as a geologist at El Dorado, Ark., and I. S. Higginbotham is a geologist at Tulsa, Okla. T. C. Stromberg is in the oil business at Ardmore, and Paul V. Day is in the accounting department of the Carter Oil company at Tulsa. William Clyde Dinger is with the Parkersburg Rig and Reel company, Seminole, and Zothal Z. Hunter is employed by the Phillips Petroleum company at Bartlesville.

A group of accountants, auditors and statisticians are located as follows: John T. Ferguson, Houston, Texas; Oral Leon Luper, auditing department, General Mills, El Reno; Milford Dever, Packard Oklahoma City, Inc., Oklahoma City; Carl Major Cooper, Bartlesville, Okla.; D. Woodrow Way, Ponca City; Lawrence M. Stewart, assistant public accountant, Muskogee, Okla.; B. Hunter Loftin, Tulsa; Dana R. Pickup, Lancaster, New York, and Brinson L. Parker, Beckville, Texas.

James E. Roth is working in the art department of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios in Hollywood, and is reported advancing rapidly.

Pharmacy graduates have reported the following placements: Glenn M. Stinson, Sayre; Mouzon McKinney, Temple; Herman A. Jones, Jr., Liberty Drug company, Okemah; Carl L. Dunn, Rocky; John C. Wright, Wright's Drug Store, Chandler; Bill Woolley, assistant manager Walgreen drug store in Tulsa; Robert F. Rigg, manager of Dacoma Drug company, Dacoma, Okla.; Tharon A. Park, D. and V. Drug store, Stillwater; R. C. Walker, Oklahoma City.

Chemistry graduates who have been heard from include John H. Weiland, Jr., Port Arthur, Texas; Dan D. Washburn, Beaumont, Texas; Donald H. Cowan, Port Arthur, and C. Lowell Workman, who is chemist with the Oklahoma Geological Survey in Norman.

Ruth E. Winn is occupational therapist at the Menninger sanitarium, Topeka, Kan.

Teaching, as usual, occupies a large proportion of the '36 graduates. Those who reported themselves in teaching positions at Oklahoma City are Helen Bailey Sittel, commercial teacher in Central High school; Katherine W. Johnson, art teacher in Capitol Hill Junior high school; Mabel M. Kincaid, commercial training department, Capitol Hill Senior High school; Shirley Joan Bevan, cadet teacher, Stand Watic school; Fern Ella Van Meter; Matha Ratterree Tansel; Gertrude Pillars; Anna Mildred Moore, art teacher in Roosevelt Junior High school; Margaret Ross

Thompson, in charge of junior department of the Bessie Leigh Chestnutt dramatic art studio; Marie Grace Hopper, teaching first grade and working in the principal's office at Britton grade school.

Margaret Ellen Hopper, twin sister of Marie Hopper, is teaching first grade at Guymon, and it is the first time they have ever been separated for any considerable length of time. The Hopper twins and their mother have moved their home to Oklahoma City after living in Norman for four years. They plan to come back to Norman next summer to complete work on master's degrees.

Three '36 graduates teaching in Norman this winter are J. Teague Self, Katherine Anne Read and Mrs. Sybelle Hood Butler.

Other teachers who reported to the alumni office are located as follows:

Ruth Ann Armstrong, Okmulgee; Rowena Oliver, Ardmore; Anna Fay Probst, Muskogee; Helen Morris, third grade and departmental music, Newkirk; Ruth Forney, English instructor and principal of Kibby High school, Buffalo; Elwood Cleveland, teacher and track and baseball coach, Morris; Vivian Nemecek, coach and teacher, Marietta; Virginia E. Steele, history and government in Frederick High school; Lucille Sodowsky, Crowder; Gladys Setliff, Gould; Nellie Summers Ruston, Cordell; Mildred I. Ridgway, Edmond; Wahlela Maude Shumate, Tipton.

Nellie V. Barnett, who is teaching at Talihina, writes that she is having "the grandest time," teaching in that city which is surrounded by mountains. "The views are wonderful on any kind of day," she says. "I am working hard but I am happy in spite of the fact that I eat Arkansas bread and read a Fort Smith paper."

Elizabeth Barrowman is in charge of physical education for women at Southwestern State Teachers college, Weatherford.

A civil service appointment took Vivian Helen Roberts to Shiprock, N. M., as teacher in the Shiprock Boarding school, a government school for Navajo Indians which has an enrolment of 300. Martha Harms, who did graduate work during the summer at the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago, is now teaching public school music at Whitewater, Kan. Hardy L. Suggs is music instructor and band director at Calvert, Texas, and Rosemary Hudson is teaching physics at Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass.

Mrs. Martha Grantham has opened a piano studio in Ponca City.

For one large group of students, the degrees received last spring were just mile-posts in their scholastic work and they are continuing study toward additional degrees.

Those who are continuing in the law school include Ray C. Snodgrass, Earl T. Warren, Jack E. Beltter, Henry O. Boatright, Sylvanus G. Felix who is working for the Oklahoma City fire department at night, Williams Kirtley Garnett, Bernard L. Gordon and William S. Key, Jr.

The '36 seniors enrolled in the medical school include Sam T. Moore, William A. Morris, Tilden H. Phipps, Jr., James L. Southworth, Homer C. Wheeler, Howard Angus (writes he spent three months motoring through Europe last summer), Marvin Elkins, Stearley P. Harrison, Alfred A. Hellams, Rheba L. Huff, Phil Lowenthal, and Victor Mills.

Others of the new graduates who are continuing study in the University of Oklahoma include: Mary Elizabeth Wilson, working for B. ASSOCIATION'S LOSS AND GAIN forward with equal enthusiasm to the future of the association under the leadership of Ted Beard.

Ted, whose real name is Thomas Marion, graduated from the University in 1921 in the same class with Frank. Both men are Phi Beta Kappa members. Ted has at least one advantage over his predecessor. In 1921 he married Katheryn Louise Haxel, of McAlester, while Frank has remained a bachelor.

The new alumni secretary belongs to so many honorary associations that it would take a Greek professor to figure them all out.

He has been with the Department of Public Relations in the University for many years and was national chairman of the public speaking committee of the National University Extension association from 1926 to 1935. From 1931 to 1934 he was the executive secretary of the Association of University and College Broadcasting stations, and is recognized throughout the United States as the outstanding manager of a college broadcasting station. He is director of the Oklahoma Forensic league, which conducts all of the debating and oratorical contests in the high schools of the state.

Through his duties as director of that league and as manager of the radio station, and as a member of the Public Relations department, he has had perhaps more personal contact with high school and college students throughout the state than any other man. He is active in civic affairs and in the American Legion. His wide experience has given him acquaintances throughout the state, which will be most valuable to our association. He is a man of tireless energy and creates confidence in all with whom he comes in contact.

Under the new arrangement, Ted will have charge of the tasks previously handled by Frank Cleckler, and also will continue as manager of the University radio station and director of the Oklahoma Forensic league. Arrangements have been made for a full-time editor for the Sooner Magazine and a full-time assistant in the executive office. Under this arrangement, Ted will have considerable time to visit alumni groups throughout the state, and the prospects for a larger and better organization are indeed encouraging.

Including the Union business, our executive secretary now handles approximately $175,000 a year, which is getting into the class of big business. While our chief function is to build good will for the University and keep the alumni and former students in closer contact, at the same time the business duties of the secretary are important. The officers of the association are confident that Ted Beard will perform these duties efficiently and that under his guidance, the association will continue its steady progress.
