Victor H. R. Croxton, '29law, Norman attorney, believes that the Sooners would do well to join the Southwest conference. Writing to the Oklahoma City Times, he argued the question this way:

"Anyone observing the Big Six over a long period must realize that eventually Nebraska will enter the Big Ten, probably in the place of Chicago, and when that happens the Big Six will become a conference in name only. O. U. should be prepared.

"I have found a strong sentiment among fans in widely scattered sections favoring beating Nebraska to the jump by entering the Southwest. The reasons are so apparent and overwhelming as hardly to permit argument. They have converted me. Some say, 'Take your cue from baseball—both the Texas League and Oklahoma City and Tulsa gained by their joining the Texas League.'

"Others say, 'Our interests, weather, etc., are more kin to Texas—whoever heard of people going to Kansas, Missouri, etc., in the cold months, yet many Oklahomans spend fall vacations in Texas.'

"But I am writing to suggest a plan, if, as and when O. U. should make the change, which is coming as sure as more taxes.

"A conference must not be so large all teams cannot meet unless a playoff plan is used, witness the Big Ten and others in which co-champions are sometimes declared who never met.

"I suggest the division of the Southwest as follows: State schools, Texas A. and M., Texas U., and Arkansas. Private schools, Rice, Baylor, S. M. U. and T. C. U. Then add O. U. and L. S. U. to the state bracket and Tulsa to the private bracket. Require each team in both brackets to play every other team in the bracket before a certain date, say November 8.

"On that day the leaders in each bracket meet, the runnerup teams meet and so on down the line and the outcome gives the final conference standing of all ten teams. The teams have each played five games, leaving four open dates on a normal nine-game schedule for outside competition or for natural rivalries between teams of different brackets who desire to meet.

"I merely suggest a skeleton outline of what should develop real interest and a real champion."

W. R. Means, '29as, has been employed as geology scout by the Transwestern Oil Company, once the Slick-Urschel Company. Means, who formerly was with Sinclair Oil and Gas Company in East Texas, will work out of the Transwestern offices at Corpus Christi, Texas.

DEATHS

The promising career of James Hawes, honor student in the University and business manager of The Sooner Magazine, was cut short when tuberculosis caused his death in April. He died in an Oklahoma City hospital following an illness that became serious during final examinations at the end of the first semester.

Hawes was 1935 editor of the Sooner Yearbook and winner of the 1934 Dad's Day cup which is awarded annually to the most outstanding man student. He was a member of the President's Honor Class, Congress Literary Society, Pe-et, of which he was treasurer; Pi Sigma Alpha, League of Young Democrats, Phi Beta Kappa, Ruf Neks and History club. He served as president and vice-president of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary society, and as president of the History club.

He received a bachelor's degree in 1935, and was a student in the School of Law when he became ill.

Besides his numerous activities on the campus, he found time to be a leader in the Norman Boy Scout organization and was considered one of the best workers in that organization.

He was 22 years old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hawes, of Norman.

Funeral services were attended by a large group of friends who constituted a tribute to Hawes' variety of interests. The group included the president of the University, many faculty members, Boy Scout leaders, working students, fraternity men and Norman residents.

Services were conducted by Rev. E. N. Comfort, director of the Oklahoma School of Religion who was closely associated with Hawes in Boy Scout work.

William J. Lowry, '16 Kingfisher college, superintendent of schools at Springfield, Ill., died in March at New Orleans, La. He was stricken with pneumonia while attending the meeting of the National Education Association.

Before going to Springfield, Mr. Lowry was a school executive at Gateway, Mont.

Military funeral services were held at Kingfisher, Okla., where he formerly lived.

Pneumonia caused the death of Ralph Bell, '04, at Gainesville, Texas, in March. Survivors include his wife and four children; his mother, Mrs. J. R. Bell, Norman, and four sisters.

William Dilworth, '24eng, died in January at Wichita, Kan. Burial was made at Newkirk, Okla. He is survived by his wife, the former Lucille Snapp, '24, and two children.

Perry "Moon" Mullins, former campus musician, and Ralph B. Kelly, '35ex, both of Oklahoma City, were killed in an airplane crash April 10 near Oklahoma City. Mullins, who was taking Kelly for a short ride in his plane, had been flying since before he left the University and held a full transport license. He had more than eight hundred hours in the air to his credit. Cause of the crash was uncertain.

Mullins had been in the filling station business for many years, and recently had been flying salesman for the Eason Oil Co. When in the University he was a member of Kappa Epsilon fraternity, which later became Phi Kappa Sigma, and he played bass horn and violin in various campus orchestras.

Kelly operated a filling station and a string of trucks for hauling.

Mullins lived at 3116 Northwest Twenty-fifth street. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Juanita Mullins; a daughter, Wilma, and a son, Billie Burton; two sisters, Mrs. Iona Statuplo, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. C. I. Ridgeway, Wetumka; and two brothers, G. Burton Mullins and Floyd F. Mullins, Oklahoma City.

Kelly had no children but was married. His wife, Mrs. Lillian Proffit Kelly of the home at 2213 Northwest Thirteenth street, was a high-school sweetheart. Kelly was 24 years old and Mullins 28.

Besides his wife Kelly is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kelly, Oklahoma City; three brothers, G. G. Kelly, city policeman; Charles, of the home; and James W., Tulsa; and a sister, Mrs. A. C. Sullivan, Denton, Texas.
