This warrant for $30 is the mileage of my trip to and from Muskogee overnight between the special and regular sessions of the Legislature. Of course I did not make the trip and for that reason I am donating the check to the milk and ice fund"

A half-page article describing the work being done by Mrs. Margaret Gibbons Brooks, '15ex, in training deaf children, was published recently in the Daily Oklahoman Sunday edition. Mrs. Brooks has conducted the Jane Brooks School for the Deaf at Purcell for the last twelve years.

"Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, and meet Morrison (Slide Rule) Cunningham. Mr. Cunningham is the assistant city manager. He knows all, sees all and says nothing. He's been in City Hall for 16 years, but the young folks in the Park Department, seeing him in the City Hall, are as apt as not to ask if there's anything they can do and will he please have a seat, Bus Baker, the city manager, will see him right away.

"The truth is, Mr. Cunningham has a sort of softie look about him. In this instance, though, appearances are deceptive. People around him get the impression of an aura of angelic mildness because he placidly chews a huge cigar, and asks how the wife and kids are.

"But Mr. Cunningham is the chap who has made the wheels go 'round in the city's million dollar Civic Center building. He is the city's buffer between the architects and the Public Works Administration. When he says yes, it's yes; when he says no, it's no.

"Mr. Cunningham began his career with the city administration as a Water Department distribution engineer. Two years later he became assistant to Supt. C. E. Bretz. He survived the change from commission to managerial government some 10 years ago and emerged from the if-at-first-you-don't-succeed city manager switch with his head still on his shoulders. One of the first things Orval Mosier did when he was picked as city manager was to name Mr. Cunningham his assistant.

The poem, which was published in the Tulsa World, is reprinted here by special permission:

The Cherokee Kid Comes Home

Last night I fancied, from out of the past
He walked to the mike with his chuckle and smile

As he scratched his head and some straying hair And he chewed his gum in sagebrush style.

He was on the air with his homespun wit;
"Howdy, folks," said he, "I've got a new boss,
I'm a workin' for charity and had to come back
And do my turn for the great Red Cross."

"I've been ridin' the range away up there With the cowboys in heaven a-cuttin' their capers

But I reckon I know when there's trouble at home, 'Cause I still find time to read all the papers.

"I expect you remember the drought-stricken times,

When the ground was dried and we all prayed for mud,

Well, it's all wet now from the snow and the

And Old Man River has started a flood.

"If my friends are a-listenin', the rich ones, you know.

It insures greater accuracy in all oil field operations. Pressure is transmitted by a closed fluid column that eliminates errors that might arise from friction and metal fatigue. The full weight on the indicator is read directly in pounds or in points, regardless of the size of the load, from spudding in to pulling tubing.

Truly the finest and most accurate Weight Indicator yet offered to the oil industry it is a triumph in precision and ruggedness.
