Less Glamor in Sorority Rush

include A. and M. or Tulsa University. Since it is a trend which National Panhellenic has urged for years, these campuses too will fall in line in time. O. U. merely beat them to the draw. For the present it seems to put at a disadvantage those sororities which have chapters only at Norman, but not at Stillwater or Tulsa. They are not appearing in the news "socially." But since National Panhellenic is not a legislative body and has no authority whatsoever over either college or city Panhellenics, each group makes its own rules. As campuses grow in maturity, they discover where to put the emphasis.

This is news!—the University of Oklahoma being commended for taking the lead in de-emphasizing one of the most glamorous phases of campus social life.
