

With the Armed Forces

FIVE SOONER pilots, who attended the University about the same time, were reunited by the war on the Australian front as members of the same American pursuit outfit, flying Kittyhawk pursuit planes in combat against the Japs.

These Oklahoma pilots now in the "land down under" include Capt. Clarke Selman, '38bus, Oklahoma City; Lt. Andy J. Reynolds, '40, Seminole; Lt. James Bruce Morehead, '38, Washington, Oklahoma; Capt. Nathan H. Blanton, '36-'38, Shawnee, and Capt. Mitchell E. Sims, '39, Norman.

According to World War I standards, Morehead and Reynolds are aces, having shot down five or more enemy planes. Other members of the pursuit group last month were forging ahead, each having several enemy craft to his credit.

Captain Sims commands the squadron of which Lieutenant Morehead is a member. As a commanding officer he has too many administrative ground duties to get much time in the air, but the squadron which he directs was last credited with shooting down 14 Jap planes. Captain Selman commands the squadron of which Lieutenant Reynolds is a member and he, like Captain Sims, has to concentrate on administrative work.

A veteran of both the Philippine and Java air wars, Captain Blanton considers his most exciting adventure being shot down and crash landing into the sea near Java. In late September he was on leave in the United States, visiting relatives in Shawnee.

The five live in tent and grass houses, eat water buffalo when they get a honing for beef and two or three times a week drive off to an open air movie being shown in a nearby camp. One of the pilots asked Captain Selman if the show he'd attended the night before was worth seeing.

"Hell, yes," he replied. "It's the third time I've seen it, and it never was any good, but I'm going again tonight."

In honor of the pursuit group, Capt. Anthony G. Carroll, chaplain with the Coast Artillery in Australia, wrote a poem describing the heroic actions of the pilots and beginning "Ye men who soar through Darwin skies . . ."

► Folks back home were cheering last month for Capt. John L. Smith, '36bus, six-foot Marine fighter pilot of Lexington, who shot down four Jap Zero fighters in less than 15 minutes during a fierce air battle near Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands area.

Captain Smith's amazing feat boosted his score to nine enemy craft downed in nine days and qualified him for the designation of ace. The fighter pilot joined the Marine Corps four years ago, after completing flight training at Pensacola, Florida.

Stationed first at Quantico, Virginia, he later was transferred to California, then to Pearl Harbor. He recently joined the Marines in their historic battles in the Solomons where his own aerial exploits have been among the most daring reported.

► Confirmation that Lt. Harry McInnis, '34ba, Navy dentist formerly stationed on Guam, was taken prisoner by the Japanese was received recently by an Enid attorney who got a letter from Lieutenant McInnis. He was believed confined at the Zentsuji prison camp. The letter which the attorney received, devoted entirely to business matters, escaped censorship by both the United States and Japan.

► Brunet Marya Welch, '37phys.ed, last month was the first Oklahoma woman to become an officer in the Women's Auxiliary Voluntary Emergency group, Navy equivalent of the WAAC's. Physical education teacher in Woodland, California, for the last three years, Ensign Welch is a former resident of Guthrie. After receiving her commission, she left for Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts, for a period of indoctrination.

► A nightmare story of drifting in an open boat on the Atlantic for 32 days was related by Carl S. Dalbey, Jr., '40, former radioman on a merchant marine vessel which was torpedoed and sunk by an axis submarine. Part of the crew, 48 men, escaped in a life boat and twice landed on small uninhabited islands where no food was found, Mr. Dalbey reported. Finally, they reached an island where they were fed and cared for by people in a fishing settlement until their transfer to Nassau, chief city of the Bahamas. Mr. Dalbey was sent to a hospital in New York and eventually to his home in Oklahoma City. As a result of the hectic ordeal, his weight dropped from 124 pounds to 97 pounds. He returned to service last month.

► Ensign Frank Millard Long, Jr., '38-'41, of the U. S. Naval Reserve, was reported killed in action by a Navy Department telegram sent September 3 to his parents in Roanoke, Virginia. While attending the University, Ensign Long majored in aeronautical engineering and was a member of Tau Omega engineering fraternity. Following the report of his death, a poet friend who knew Ensign Long for a number of years sent a eulogy poem to his parents as a tribute to his heroism and sacrifice. Survivors include his father, Frank M. Long, Sr., '08ba, '09ma, connected with the United Service Organizations in Dublin, Virginia; two brothers, James Long, '37ba, Houston, Texas, and Lewis Long; and a sister, Mrs. R. F. Anderson (Eulalee Long, '41he), Mattoon, Illinois.

► Charles Nelson, Jr., '32-'33, Tulsa, instructor at the Spartan School of Aeronautics, was killed in a training plane crash near Muskogee in August. He was graduated from Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and took two years of post graduate work in economics in the University. His father is vice president of the Oklahoma Pipe Line Company.

► Names of six Sooners were added to the "missing in action" list of those last reported serving in the Pacific war theater. Included were Maj. George M. Hohl, '24bus, Tulsa, believed to have been on Bataan; Capt. Charles Clark James, '36eng, formerly associated with the Oklahoma Natural Gas Company in Tulsa; Lt. Leonard Jenks, '36ed, and Lt. Charles L. Mathis, '41, both of Oklahoma City, who were reported on Corregidor; Capt. William F. Prickett, '37ba, Oklahoma City, who was one of 17 Marine Corps officers missing in action or Jap prisoners, selected for promotion, and Ensign William A. Berry, '40law, former county attorney of Payne County in Stillwater, who was at Corregidor.

► Maj. Barron C. Housel, Jr., '34bus, Oklahoma City, last month was reported as a member of General MacArthur's staff in the Southwest Pacific. Major Housel was connected with the Universal Credit Company before going into active service.

► Lt. Frank E. Calhoun, '40bus, of the U. S. Ferry Command, was reported in an English hospital after the plane he was ferrying across was shot down. Former salesman with the Southwest Box Company at Sand Springs, Lieutenant Calhoun received his wings and commission in the Air Corps last January.

► Lt. Ralph L. Hock, '37eng, former Oklahoma City engineer, was believed last month to have seen action in the Solomon Islands area. He was sent overseas as a member of an Ordnance company.

► Stepping right on up in Army Air Corps ranks, youthful Stuart M. Porter, '38bus, Muskogee, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel at the age of 26. Now stationed with a bombardment squadron in England, Colonel Porter was promoted to major last summer and to his present rank two weeks later. He has been in the Air Corps three years.

► Capt. John R. Browne, '39law, Oklahoma City, has been appointed a regional liaison officer representing the Man-Power Branch of the Civilian Personnel Division, Services of Supply. The district which he supervises includes the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina. Captain Browne was one of several Army officers assigned to industrial areas throughout the country to assist the War Man-Power Commission in coordinating man-power requirements of war projects with labor supply and training agencies. Before going into active service, he was associated with the Western Coca-Cola Bottling Company in Oklahoma City. ► Thirty-two alumni were graduated with second lieutenants' commissions September 6 from various Texas and Louisiana flying schools of the Gulf Coast Army Air Forces Training Center. Those who received their wings at Kelly Field were Carl E. Blackwell, '39-'41, Lexington, Stanley L. Evans, '42, Shawnee, and Cooper D. Ray, '41-'42, Martha, Moore Field graduated Robert O. Burkett, '39bs, Newcastle, Marion W. L. Elliott, '37-'40, and Samuel A. Ray, '41eng, both of Oklahoma City.

LT. BRUCE MOREHEAD, '38

CAPT. NATHAN BLANTON, '38

Those completing training at Brooks Field were Leland S. Cope, '38-'41, Muskogee, Thomas B. Fessenger, '35-'36, San Jose, California, Edgar A. Hambleton, '39-'42, Fittstown, James M. Updike, '36-'38, Sapulpa, William C. Wallace, '36-'37, and Richard A. Wilson, '39-'41, both of

DARWIN SKY FIGHTERS

Members of the same American pursuit group in Australia, these Sooner pilots today strengthen aerial defenses over the Darwin coast where they frequently engage and take their toll of Jap Zeros in grim sky battles. Captain Sims and Captain Selman are squadron commanders, spend most of their time dealing with strategy and maneuvers. The other three, Reynolds, Morehead and Blanton, get to spend more time in the air, are noted for their coolness and daring. Lieutenant Morehead, who was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, and Lieutenant Reynolds, who received the Silver Star, rank as aces. Captain Blanton, also recipient of the Silver Star for heroism, once crashed into the sea off the Java coast after his plane was shot down. Foreign correspondents on the Darwin front send frequent reports on the heroic exploits of the five.
