

Life Member Fund Aids Defense

All of Fund Receipts for Next Six Months Will Be Invested In Defense Bonds as Contribution Of O. U. Alumni to War Effort

THE University of Oklahoma Alumni Association last month took an active step in support of the nation's war effort when the trustees of the Life Membership Trust Fund invested $2,600 of the fund in defense bonds.

The trustees further announced that receipts of the trust fund for the next six months—payments made on existing life membership pledges and payments on new life memberships—will be invested in defense bonds. This means that O. U. alumni who take out life memberships during the next few months, or make additional payments on existing pledges, will be supplying funds for the nation's defense effort.

The Life Membership Trust Fund continues to grow steadily. Last month another thousand dollars that had accumulated in recent payments was added to the fund, although no particular campaign or solicitation had been conducted.

The amount in the O.U. Life Membership Trust August 31, when the last audit was made, was approximately $21,500, and about $10,000 more is due in existing pledges.

The three trustees are Tom F. Carey, '08ba, Oklahoma City accountant; Errett R. Newby, '07fa, '08ba, Oklahoma City oil man; and Neil R. Johnson, '15ba, '17law, Norman business man and rancher. They have the custody of the trust fund and the responsibility of investing the money for the best interests of the Alumni Association. The trust agreement provides that interest earned may be used by the Alumni Association for current expenses, but no part of the principal sum may be spent.

Ten additional new Life Members were announced last month by Ted Beard, '21ba, executive secretary of the Alumni Association. The new additions bring the total of living life members to 584.

The new ones are:

Dr. W. T. Mayfield, '18bs, '20 med, Norman physician.

Dr. Hugh D. Stites, '22bs, '24med, physician at Aledo, Illinois.

Bennie McElyea, '27ba, '36m.ed, superintendent of schools at Hobart.

Doyle S. Crain, '31bus, employe of the Oklahoma Tax Commission, Antlers.

OUR OWN O. U. ROLL CALL

HAZEL JOLLY PAUL
(Class of '41)

Hazel graduated from South Denver High School, Denver, Colorado, in 1936. In the fall of that year she entered Denver University, taking a Liberal Arts course. She attended D. U. for two years, and was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority there.

In the summer of 1938 Hazel's family moved to Oklahoma City, and she enrolled in O. U. that fall, in the School of Education. She received a B. S. Degree in Education at mid-term of the 1940-41 school year.

After receiving her degree, Hazel did graduate work in the School of Business, for one semester. In September, 1941, she started with the bank. At first she enrolled in the special training course for International Business Machine operators. This is a very specialized machine that does work formerly requiring several operations and several employes, and requires a complete knowledge of most of the operating departments of the bank. Hazel is now a full-fledged I. B. M. operator in the Transit Department.

Many of Hazel's O. U. friends will be surprised to learn that on December 4, 1941, she was married to Glenn Paul, of Troy, Alabama. Mr. Paul, who graduated from O. U. in 1940, is now a junior engineer at Midwest Air Depot, Oklahoma City.

Hazel's hobbies are reading—all kinds—and music. She plays both the piano and accordion, but confesses that the latter instrument has been neglected lately. Hazel is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Oklahoma City.

Your "Campus Clubhouse"

More and more, O. U. alumni are getting in the habit of dropping into the Union whenever they visit Norman. It's the natural thing to do, because one of the basic functions of the Union is to provide a "clubhouse" for visiting alumni. You'll enjoy using the lounge and cafeteria and other facilities, and you'll enjoy seeing many faculty members and Sooner friends.

four years, on a home-and-home basis. So it is possible that Rice or the Texas Aggies might be the Homecoming Day opponent on years in which neither Nebraska nor Missouri is scheduled in Norman.

Why not play more Western Conference teams?

Because they don't want to schedule Oklahoma on a home-and-home basis. The Sooners could book plenty of "Big Ten" games if they were willing to play them all away from home, but O.U. alumni and other fans wouldn't be very enthusiastic about that. Western Conference teams don't want to come to Norman because they expect larger financial cuts than O.U. can afford to guarantee. Also, they are unwilling to give O.U. an option of 50 percent on gate receipts, and instead offer a small guarantee.

Why not play Arkansas?

This is not a question to be answered lightly, gentlemen. Breathes there a former Arkansawyer anywhere who doesn't think the Arkansas football team good enough for anybody's schedule? As a matter of fact, there has been some correspondence along this line, but the scheduling of any such game appears difficult as the Sooners are booked up with nine games every year through 1948, and a tenth game cannot be scheduled without permission of the Big Six conference. Ten games were authorized for 1942 in order to permit the special Semiscentennial game, but the nine-game rule still stands for succeeding years.

Why play Tulsa University?

Let's be philosophical for two years and pass on to the next question.

Why schedule games six years ahead? Maybe we'll change our mind about something in all that time.

As in the case of a good many vices, the answer is that "they all do it." If you don't book all your games far ahead, you find pretty lean pickings when you try to fill in the open dates.

What effect will war have on football?

It's too soon to make any predictions, as this is written. England and Russia both have kept their principal sports activities going on a somewhat restricted scale. They believe that some entertainment is good for civilian morale. Whether college coaches will have any players on hand next fall is another problem. Many will undoubtedly be in training or on active military duty.
