UNIVERSITY ALUMNI serving with American forces on all battlefronts continued to make headline news last month. Five received decorations.

► High honor was paid posthumously to Lt. Duane J. Clapham, '38bus, Norman, when he was awarded China's Meritorious Medal of the Army, Navy and Air Forces, First Grade, A Class, by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Lieutenant Clapham was killed April 17, 1942 when the plane he was testing crashed in India. He could have saved his life by parachuting to safety, but chose to remain in the plane to keep it from crashing into a crowd of people.

► For services rendered over, above and beyond the line of duty, in total disregard of his own personal safety, Lt. Thirl E. Jarrett, '36med, received the Navy Cross last November 9. On the nights of October 13, 14, 15 and 17, Lieutenant Jarrett cared for wounded men on Guadalcanal under heavy Naval gun fire from the enemy. His work consisted largely of administering blood plasma to the wounded. Lieutenant Jarrett, formerly a physician in New York and Norfolk, Virginia, is a member of the Navy Medical Corps attached to a Marine unit.

► Capt. Paul Irving Williams, '34-'39, Norman, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement in South Pacific aerial combat. Captain Williams, who already held the Silver Star, was one of 42 officers and men given the medal at the same time.

► Lt. Lester T. Mooney, '41, Norman, has been decorated with the Silver Star for gallantry in action near Buna Village on New Guinea. Lieutenant Mooney is attached to an Infantry company. The dispatch announcing the presentation of the award, datelined Washington, February 8, carried no details.

He, along with eleven other Navy Fliers, has been engaged in patrol missions and bombing raids against the Japanese in the Islands despite severe weather conditions and determined enemy resistance.

Before leaving this country he was on duty at Randolph Field, Texas and Drew Field, Florida. In civilian life Lieutenant Ray was a geologist with the Pure Oil Company in Fort Worth, Texas. ► Lt. Paul M. Pitts, '39-'41, Poteau, was killed February 2 in the crash of an Army bomber near Bedford, Virginia. The plane was from the Army Air Base at Columbia, South Carolina, where Lieutenant Pitts, a pilot, was stationed. While attending the University he was a student in the College of Engineering and participated in intramural sports.

► Lt. Randolph V. Donalson, '38-'41, Hollis, was killed last month when two Army medium bombers crashed near Newberry, South Carolina. Both planes were from the Greenville, South Carolina, Army Air Base. Officials were investigating reports that they collided in mid-air. Lieutenant Donalson was a navigator for one of the planes. While at the University he was a student in the College of Business Administration, member of the band, and an intramural debater. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Donalson of Hollis.

► Word has been received that Lt. Dan Burns, '38-'40, Albuquerque, New Mexico, has been missing in action since March, 1942. An Army Air Force pilot, he was stationed in Hawaii and failed to return from a flight. Lieutenant Burns received his wings at Coral Gables, Florida. He was a student in the College of Engineering and a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

► Lt. George T. Holland, '39eng, Mount Pleasant, Texas, has been officially reported missing in action. He was with an Ordnance company at Fort Stotsenburg when war started and has not been heard from since the fall of Bataan. Before entering the Army Lieutenant Holland was employed as assistant test engineer with the Atlantic Refining Company in Longview, Texas. At the University he was a member of Scabbard and Blade, Sigma Tau engineering fraternity, Ruf Neks, and St. Pat's Council.

► Lt. Wayne W. Christian, '39ba, member of the U. S. Marine Corps, was reported missing in action. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne B. Christian of Oklahoma City, received the notification early last month. Lieutenant Christian was commissioned in the Marine Air Corps on March 3, 1942, at the Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi, Texas. While training there he specialized in flying fast fighter planes, the type used on carriers. Before entering the service Lieutenant Christian was a salesman with the L. C. Smith and Corona Typewriter Company in Houston, Texas. He was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

► Capt. Steve Masoero, '39eng, Henryetta, has been officially listed as missing in action by the War Department. No word has been heard from him since the fall of Bataan in May, 1942. Captain Masoero was stationed at Fort Huachuca, Arizona before going overseas. In civilian life he was employed by several oil companies, among them the Atlantic Pipeline Company of Dallas and the Shell-Oil Company at Denver City, Texas.

Lieutenant Bryant, who received the Distinguished Service Cross last October for gallantry in action, was stationed in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands. At the University he was an anthropology major and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

► Lt. Leonard C. B. Jenks, '36ed, Oklahoma City, was reported a prisoner of war at a Japanese prison camp in the Philippine Islands. Lieutenant Jenks was a Civilian Conservation Corps officer until he entered the regular Army in 1941. He was sent to the Philippines in August of that year.

► Cadet Jack Riley, '36-'40, Sayre, was injured recently when he bailed out of his training plane which had gone into a spin near Minter Field, California, where he was stationed. He sprained both ankles and received lacerations and bruises in a parachute landing. Cadet Riley was third baseman on the Sooner baseball team in '38, '39 and '40, with one of the best batting averages in the Big Six.

► In a large scale aerial combat over Wau, New Guinea early last month two alumni shot down a Japanese plane apiece. They were Lt. Don Sutliff, '40, Blackwell, and Lt. Dugan Woodring, '36-'38, Noble. The action, centering around the Wau air-drome, was termed by correspondents "one of the most crushing air defeats yet inflicted by the Allies in this area."

► Associated Press dispatches from the battlefield in southern Tunisia mention two alumni, Maj. E. H. Burba, '33bus, McAlester, and Lt. Field Duskin, '37-'41, Oklahoma City. Major Burba, a battalion commander, explained the system of fire to the AP correspondent as German guns bombarded American tanks and infantrymen waited to push forward. When a shell burst on a hill behind the party, seemingly unnoticed by the officers, the reporter asked Lieutenant Duskin where it came from and received the casual reply, "It's probably a German 88 trying to get our range."

► Four sons of the Walter Northcutt family of Lexington are members of the armed services on active duty, and a fifth, enrolled in the University and a member of the Army Air Force Reserve, expected last month to be called at any time. Those on duty are Capt. Clarence D. Northcutt, '38law, Camp Bowie, Texas; O. V. Northcutt, '37-'41, printer second class at White Plains, New York; Cadet B. C. ► Four days spent in the ice and snow of a Newfoundland wilderness clearing, without food or definite assurance of rescue, were described by Sgt. Philip G. Bockman, '39-'40, Oklahoma City, member of the Royal Canadian Air Force fighter squadron, after his return to civilization. Sergeant Bockman was forced down by bad weather and a gasoline shortage, but radioed his position before his battery went dead. Before help came four days later, he existed on snow and kept warm by wrapping up in his parachute. On the fourth day a searching plane spotted him. "It circled and dropped me everything except a blond," said Sergeant Bockman, recuperating in a Canadian hospital. "Most important of my gifts from the sky was some hot tomato soup. I just sat me down and had a real feed." Later a plane came back to pick him up.

► From somewhere in New Guinea came word through AP correspondents that Lt. George Shaffer, '35-'36, Bartlesville, and Capt. William Hoover, '38-'40, Altus, were taking a big part in action against enemy air fields and shipping. Lieutenant Shaffer piloted a Liberator bomber which recently sank a Japanese cargo ship off the north New Britain coast. "We skip-bombed her," said Lieutenant Shaffer, "dropping two bombs at a time. . . . On the second run we hit her and she sank in three minutes." He also bombed the Gasmata runway. Captain Hoover was navigator of a Flying Fortress which led an attack on Rabaul early in February.

► Sgt. George Douglas Idlett, '38-'40, Snyder, is reported by the war department to be a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippine Islands. Sergeant Idlett, who was a student in the College of Engineering at the University, was stationed at Nichols Field in the Philippines when war started.

SOONERS AND AGGIES ARE AT IT AGAIN

Far though they be from Oklahoma ball courts and cheering sections, Sooners and Aggies stationed at Pendleton Air Base in Oregon take time out to venture score guessing on basketball games between O. U. and A. and M., March 4 and 11. Holding the ball in the center is neutral Maj. Edwin R. Page, not an alumnus of either institution who is on leave of absence from the University engineering faculty. Aggie trio on the left includes (left to right) Cpl. Harris R. Shine, Ardmore; Lt. Ted Krisher, Lawton, and Lt. Claude Paul, Fairview. Sooner delegation to the right includes Capt. Ted Beaird, '21ba, commanding officer of defense and training units; Mrs. Juanita Barrie Evans, El Reno, secretary to the base personnel adjutant, and Staff Sgt. Thomas F. Killian, '39-'40, who is in charge of a Service Group photo section.

plies plenty of cigarets, he says, adding, "Uncle Sam thinks his soldiers are animated chimneys for the amount of the stuff he sends. He is short on some other essentials however. Snuff and eating tobacco are hard to get. The proportions were figured out for city slickers, not for good old country boys."

The common people of North Africa are virtually destitute for want of food and clothing, according to a letter relatives received from Lt. Jack R. Hodge, '41bus, Oklahoma City. "When the axis was here they stripped the people of all they had. Clothes are in rags, tattered, misfits or anything they can wear. . . We have given our friends a few potatoes, some soap, tobacco and flour—the first they've had in years. . . For coffee they roast date seeds and grind them up. For soap they use a compound of fish skins and oil. Flour is unheard of, bread coming from anything they can get," he wrote.

Recently announced promotions among Sooners in Africa include the following: Shelton E. Lollis, '38eng, Lawton, to major; Robert J. Given, '25geol, Wichita, Kansas, to captain; Jack High, '36law, major, and James O. Britt, '41, to first lieutenant. Also stationed in Africa was Cpl. H. G. David M. Cook, '42law, Oklahoma City, on duty in Hawaii, has been promoted to the rank of captain. Mrs. Cook (Mary Jean Carver, '41ed) and their small son, David Thomas, are living in Wewoka.

In a feature story from the New Guinea front describing how the men spend their leisure time, Lt. Archie Swanson, '39-'41, Muskogee, was mentioned as sitting on a barrack bag reading choice passages from the Officers Guide Book out loud at the time the story was written. He and the other members of his fighter squadron live in huts under palm trees, wear swimming trunks when not actually flying, drink coconut milk, and dodge sharks when they go in for a swim.

John F. Taylor, '39law, Snyder, battalion commander at an Officer Candidate School in Australia, was recently promoted to the rank of major. Also in Australia, with the Quartermaster Corps, was Lt. Robert E. Ragsdale, '38, '40. Pfc. Roy L. Cox, '26-'27, Norman, was somewhere in the South Pacific with a Signal Air Warning company.

Early this year he was confined to a hospital there for treatment for respiratory trouble. McCurtain Scott, '35-'37, Stigler, on duty somewhere in England, has been promoted to the rank of warrant officer.

A radio message reported to be from Col. William E. Corkill, '16ba, prisoner of the Japanese, was heard last month by a short-wave radio operator in California and sent on to Mrs. Corkill in Henryetta. The message, purporting to be a recording of Colonel Corkill's voice, was sent out from a Tokyo broadcasting station. Colonel Corkill, formerly on the University R. O. T. C. staff, asked his wife to send him some cigarets, some heavy clothing and concentrated food to help him through the winter in his Formosa prison camp.

Home in Oklahoma City on leave early in February after going through campaigns in the Philippines, Bataan and Australia, Lt. Dorwood C. Stephens, '35-'39, dodged praise with the comment: "Don't hand me any bouquets. . . I'm just a lucky cuss who managed to escape with my skin." Lieutenant Stephens, on foreign duty since October, 1940, was awaiting further orders in Oklahoma City.

An enviable record of action and adventure has been set by Capt. Robert E. Halley, '39-'40, Edmond, formerly with Pan-American Airways and now of the U. S. Army Air Force. Since leaving the College of Engineering, Captain Halley has flown supplies to the Flying Tigers in China and the Russians at Tehran, and has helped establish new Pan-American routes in the East. Commissioned an Air Force captain at the age of 22, he was recently stationed with a ferrying group at Accra, Africa.
