Headed for an expected long run on Broadway was the Theater Guild's musical folk drama, Oklahoma!, adapted from Green Grow the Lilacs, a play written several years ago by Lynn Riggs, '23, which opened late last month at St. James Theater in New York. The original play appeared several years ago with Franchot Tone in the lead. Mr.

Riggs, also the author of Russet Mantle, is now a sergeant stationed at Wright Field, Ohio.

Chiefly responsible for the musical's success are Richard Rodgers, who wrote the music, Oscar Hammerstein, II, who wrote the lyrics and did the adaptation from the original play, and Rouben Mamoulian, who directed. Critics had especially high praise for the fidelity with which the play treats its subject—life in Indian Territory at the turn of the century. "Thoroughly refreshing without being oppressively rustic," was the verdict of Time Magazine.

Lewis Nichols, writing in the New York Times, said, "Oklahoma! is based on Lynn Riggs' saga of the Indian Territory at the turn of the century, Green Grow the Lilacs, and, like its predecessor, it is simple and warm . . . Mr. Rodgers has turned out waltzes, love songs, comic songs and a title number which the state in question would do well to seize as an anthem forthwith . . . Possibly in addition to being a musical play, Oklahoma! could be called a folk operetta; whatever it is, it is very good."

Among the numbers sung by the cast of cowboys, farmers and rural belles are Oh, What a Beautiful Morning, People Will Say, and The Surrey with the Fringe on Top.

VICTORY GARDENS

★ Now Santa Fe employees do war work in their hours off duty too!

They're grabbing spades and tilling fertile stretches near their homes, along their railroad's 13,199 miles of right-of-way.

They're raising fresh, vitamin-packed vegetables their nation needs to win a war.

Santa Fe—all out to win—gives right-of-way to troops and victory-winning freight... moving millions of men, and tens of millions of tons of vital food, raw materials and finished products—swiftly and surely to where they're needed now.

Santa Fe locomotives, cars, tracks and men are all working in their country's service. And now the Santa Fe right-of-way itself steps into victory uniform.

And Santa Fe people—already working hard, and buying war bonds—like this Victory Garden scheme—this chance to do one more thing for victory!

Santa Fe goes all the way for the U.S.A.!
