Key to Service List A66reviations

Included in the list of Sooners with the armed forces are names of more than 7,000 alumni, with years of attendance at the University, rank and branch of service and post of duty. Promotions and frequent changes in address of servicemen prevent publication of a completely accurate list, but corrections were made as fast as they came in until late in January. SOONER MAGAZINE would appreciate receiving information about alumni in service whose names do not appear or whose addresses or rank have changed recently.

Serves With Troops

One of the first two white women to ever set foot on Vella Lavella Island in the Central Solomons was Lt. Cora E. Conerly, '34nurse, Tylertown, Mississippi.

Lieutenant Conerly and another Army nurse, both veterans of the Solomons campaign, arrived on the island by hospital plane shortly after the landing field was put into operation.

Help Save Lives

Under the direction of Capt. Robert L. Kendall, '40med, Ardmore, Medical Corps officer in Italy, two-man litter saddles for bringing out the wounded on mule-back have been constructed by quartermaster technicians.

The rough mountain country around Venafro, where so much hard fighting has taken place, made it difficult for Medical Corpomen to transport wounded soldiers to hospitals and first aid stations until the use of mules was decided upon. The saddles can hold two men, one on each side of the animal.

Also with the Medical Corps in Italy is Capt. Ralph Phelan, '39med, Waurika, who directed evacuation of the wounded during the fighting around San Pietro.

O. U. Marine Is General

William P. T. Hill, '32ba, formerly of Vinita, has been promoted to the rank of brigadier general in the Marine Corps and appointed quartermaster of the Corps in Washington, D. C. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Seth Williams, who retired February 1, as quartermaster.

General Hill served in the aviation section of the Marine Corps during World War I, and has done pioneer work in aerial photography. During his service with the Corps he has been stationed at Anchorage, Alaska, and in Haiti.

General Hill was detached from the Corps to accompany Roy Chapman Andrews on an expedition into the Gobi Desert in the late 1920's. He had charge of the construction of the Marine Base at New River, North Carolina.

General Hill is a brother of James J. Hill, '15ba, '15ma, assistant librarian at the University.

"One Out of 4 Marry"

Natural gas is one out of many vital war materials needed to win this war!

And the gas industry is one out of many essential industries aiding the war effort by serving Army and Navy projects - by serving thousands of homes of Oklahoma war workers - by serving you and your family every day of the year.

War industries building planes, tanks, ships, guns and munitions for the armed forces are demanding ever increasing amounts of natural gas and other materials.

The natural gas industry is one out of many doing its part to supply these needs, and bring the day of victory nearer.

His Spots Changed

Some people are like this leopard; they think that because the war is causing some drastic changes, that everything is going to be changed.

Actually, there are some enduring values that will be little changed by the war. One is the value and appreciation of a good home-and comfortable haven for rest and enjoyment. Money spent on improving your home and its furnishings makes about the best investment, other than War Bonds, that you could find right now.

Back From Battle

Lt. Joe Stocker, '35ba, former Oklahoma City Times staff member, returned from the Southwest Pacific for treatment at Torney General Hospital at Palm Springs, California.

He became ill in New Guinea, was sent first to Australia and then back to the United States. Before receiving his commission in the Infantry he was a sergeant with the 45th Division.

0- Lt. Carl E. Davidson, '34-'37, Hobart, winner of the Air Medal, was back in Seattle, Washington, after seven-months duty in the Aleutians as executive officer of a Navy squadron.

Lieutenant Davidson reported that the weather is a tougher enemy than the Japanese in the North Pacific fighting zone. Of the 15 original planes in his squadron, only four remained after 29 bombing missions over Kiska, the others being victims of the weather.

0- Lt. (jg) Jimmy Demopolos, '39law, former Oklahoma City attorney, has returned to shore duty after commanding a sub-chaser on North Atlantic patrol duty for seven months.

His ship is credited with sinking a submarine off Cape Hatteras during a two-day battle between U-boats and Allied merchant ships. At another time, off Cape Fear, the sub-chaser was dive-bombed by a U. S. plane which mistook it for a submarine. Before causing too much damage the pilot realized his mistake and withdrew.

Lieutenant Demopolos was transferred from sea duty to the Navy Section Base at Southport, North Carolina, and has since been assigned to Norfolk, Virginia.

Art From Africa

Pencil and watercolor sketches made in North Africa by Staff Sgt. John W. Randolph, '39-'41, Oklahoma City, and sent to his wife, have received attention for their artistic merit.

The collection includes Tunis street scenes showing native types and colorful costumes, glimpses of life in camp, and drawings of captured German prisoners and equipment.

One of the sketches, Little Arab Beggar, was reproduced in the Daily Oklahoman to accompany a story by Art Critic Nan Sheets about Sergeant Randolph's work. "This young artist," she wrote, "has depicted his impressions of military life with great truthfulness. All of the sketches have the flare of a quick and complete conception and execution, and show a sensitive use of line and form. His sense of humor is expressed, not only in the sketches but in the amusing captions."

Art From Africa

Pencil and watercolor sketches made in North Africa by Staff Sgt. John W. Randolph, '39-'41, Oklahoma City, and sent to his wife, have received attention for their artistic merit.

The collection includes Tunis street scenes showing native types and colorful costumes, glimpses of life in camp, and drawings of captured German prisoners and equipment.

One of the sketches, Little Arab Beggar, was reproduced in the Daily Oklahoman to accompany a story by Art Critic Nan Sheets about Sergeant Randolph's work. "This young artist," she wrote, "has depicted his impressions of military life with great truthfulness. All of the sketches have the flare of a quick and complete conception and execution, and show a sensitive use of line and form. His sense of humor is expressed, not only in the sketches but in the amusing captions."

The Cover

This month's cover features the Oklahoma Sooner, a Flying Fortress veteran of Southwest Pacific warfare, and her pilot, Maj. Elmer G. Schoggen, Jr., '37-'39, (left, standing).

Major Schoggen chalked up 550 operational hours in the South Pacific after the December 7 attack which came while he was stationed at Hickam Field, Hawaii. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross with two Oak Leaf Clusters and the Air Medal with one Cluster.

Major Schoggen is now stationed at the Army Air base, Casper, Wyoming, as tactical air inspector.

Safe After Accident

Lt. Clifford W. Meade, '41, Oklahoma City, was one of the crew members of a stricken Flying Fortress who elected to "ride her down" rather than bail out and leave the pilot alone to try to bring the ship down safely.

The ship, of which Lieutenant Meade was co-pilot, was on a routine training flight over the Pennsylvania hills when three of the motors quit and the pilot ordered the crew to bail out. Four did so, and the fifth started down the runway when his parachute caught on a fire extinguisher and opened inside the plane.

It was then that the remaining crew members decided to stay in the plane. When the Fortress landed on a hillside it burst into flames but all the men escaped without injury.

The ship on which John Slajer, '42 eng, Norman, junior engineer in the U. S. Maritime Service, served was rammed by another vessel in the Gulf of Mexico recently. Four other engineers on the ship were injured but Mr. Slajer was unhurt.

In 1885 the first Dr. Pepper was created. It has won an ever-widening circle of friends.

Teddy's Rough Riders loved it in 1898. In 1917 World War I trainees discovered and grew fond of it. In 1943 the third generation of Dr. Pepper drinkers is answering the call of its country.

Three generations have approved Dr. Pepper. It thrills today's children as it did their parents and grandparents. Its appeal is ever-fresh. It never tires the taste.

Dr. Pepper Company is dedicated to Victory ... pledged to every patriotic effort ... prepared for the peace to come.

Serving a Need for Alumni
