The editor of the famous 45th Division News (see Time and Life, January 17) tells the story of his experiences with the men of Oklahoma's own 45th Division from the time they went into training in September 1940 until they emerged as veterans after Salerno Beach.

The book contains 24 cartoons by Bill Mauldin, staff artist on the 45th Division News, of whom columnist Ernie Pyle says, "Bill Mauldin appears to us over here (in Italy) to be the finest cartoonist the war has produced." News of the 45th is facetious and hilarious, but never improbable. The book is replete with personal names of his comrades, many of whom Oklahomans will know. Even the censors liked the book, and you will also.
