

Medical School

By BEVERLY HOWARD

LEAVES of absence for Navy service were granted to two members of the University School of Medicine faculty by the Board of Regents at the March meeting.

They are Dr. Hubert E. Doudna, professor of clinical anesthesiology, and Dr. William Gerald Rogers, associate in gynecology. The regents accepted the resignation of Dr. Wayne McKinley Hull, instructor in medicine, effective March 1.

Announcement was made that Dr. Charles Rayburn, professor of mental diseases, who was on leave of absence while in the Army and who has received an honorable discharge, has returned to his position on the staff of the State Hospital and to active status as a member of the School of Medicine staff as of February 1.

► Dr. Charles B. Taylor, who was recently appointed professor emeritus of urology, has a record of 28 years of service with the University School of Medicine and Hospitals.

► Dr. Ernest J. Lachman, associate professor of anatomy, was promoted to professor of anatomy and chairman of the department of anatomy effective February 1.

► New member of the Medical School faculty is Dr. Albert Douglas Foster, Jr., who began duties as professor of anesthesiology February 1. Dr. Foster received his M.D. degree from Harvard University Medical School in 1939, and since January, 1944, has served as an assistant at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

► Following an inspection of the Army unit at the Medical School (A.S.T.U. No. 3865), Maj. Carl E. Anderson, who represented General Wiebel of the Army Service Forces, said the unit ranked among the best in the nation.
