

Calling the Roll of Sooner Classes

Editor's note: Reconversion problems, or more especially, paper shortages, have caused an accumulation of overset material during the course of the past few months.

Many of the weddings and other events have taken place several months ago, but due to the shortages, Sooner Magazine has been unable to print all the announcements at the earliest possible time.

For its August issue, Sooner Magazine is running several pages of news of alumni in the Roll Call section in order to acquaint its readers with news of hundreds of their friends.

Dear Ted:

This must be Old Nostalgia Week—I was happy to get your note just now. My veteranship is so ancient now (I was 2 years in the army—but out in 1943—So you see —Why ancient!).

I'm finishing the final draft of Tragic Ground, a music-play, based on the Erskine Caldwell novel —(Music by Aaron Copeland, Pulitzer prize composer—and good, besides: dances by Agnes de Mille, etc.)—it's for November or December.

Oklahoma! still runs and runs . . . it's incredible. How are you?

My best,
Lynn Riggs, '23,

Dear Ted:

You know the old one about the dripping of water—enclosed check for $4.00 being a year's dues for Ruth and myself and a year's subscription to the Sooner Magazine.

I came down here one year ago as partner-manager of this 73 year old firm. I had called on them for years and when Mr. Rine became ill last year I was taken into the firm. Mr. Rine has since passed away and I have succeeded to his interest in the firm. Mrs. Sergent is a very grand person but not active in the business. We like the town and the people here and everyone has been wonderful to us.

Ruth and our boys, Dean (10) and Bill (5), are becoming real Texans. Mother is still at Forgan, Dad died in 1942, Dean is in Shreveport and John in Lubbock.

Ruth has found her Delta Gamma alumnae group but I have seen no PiKA's. If you happen this way be sure and come to see us.

This is to let you know that I have recently accepted an appointment as associate professor of petroleum engineering here at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, and am in charge of the natural gas section of the petroleum engineering department. In addition to my classroom duties I am serving as a consulting engineer on plant design, and technical service on special problems in the petroleum industry.

Since leaving the "Injun" school last April, I have been connected with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Baton Rouge, as a chemical engineer on the staff of the chemical technical service department.

Tell Jim Tatum that if I find any loose "Tigers" down this way, I will crate 'em up and express them to him. Keep up the good work and beat the Army!

With best regards to you and the whole gang, I remain,

Yours very truly,
