

Faculty

Professor L. N. "Fess" Morgan was recently appointed assistant dean in the College of Arts and Sciences at O.U. "Fess" Morgan joined the O.U. staff in 1912 and is one of the most popular professors on the O.U. campus.

Comdr. William M. Rakow, executive officer of the University of Oklahoma Naval R.O.T.C., recently received the bronze star for meritorious service as commanding officer of a destroyer during the war. His ship took part in naval action at Tarawa, Kwajalein, Guam, and Leyte. Rakow joined the University N.R.O.T.C. staff in the fall of 1945.

Dr. Oscar B. Jacobson, director of the Art Museum, held his twenty-first annual art exhibit during October in the University Art Building. The exhibit consisted of work painted by Dr. Jacobson in Colorado and New Mexico this last summer.

Appointments of graduate assistants were made recently by the Board of Regents to the faculty. They include: Donsel Geraldine Corbin, '46bs, mathematics; Earl B. Kilpatrick, '42ba, zoological sciences; Wickliffe Skinner, Jr., '44ce, chemical engineering; Thomas Charles Rousey, '43phys.ed, physical education for men; Marion T. Hall, '43bs, plant sciences; and Frank C. Folgar, Jr., '43pe, petroleum engineering.

J. W. Dunn, director of WNAD, returned recently from the annual conference of the National Association of Educational Broadcasting. The conference was conducted on the campus of Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan. Mr. Dunn was appointed to the association's executive committee in charge of the expansion of educational broadcasting, and the reorganization of the association.

Administrative and clerical appointments to the University made by the Board of Regents recently included: Mrs. Bettina Mavis Chandler, '46, clerical stenographer, Veterans' liaison office; Mrs. Margaret Ann Yeakley, '43bs, clerical secretary in the speech department; Mrs. Elizabeth Bernard Sandlin, '46journ, clerical secretary in the College of Education; Mrs. Christie Black Cathey, '33lib.sci, library assistant, North Campus.

Mrs. Helen Logg Sullivan, '41ba, '42lib.sci, library assistant; Betty Ruth Burckhalter, '45drama, clerical assistant in the sales division of the University Press; Virginia Cambron Saunders, '42ba, secretary in records and admissions; Murry Joe Flippo, '43bs, part-time secretary in the School of Geology.

Reva F. Newman, '33ma, library assistant in the Laboratory Schools; Mrs. Betty Ackley McLeod,

'46bus, clerk in the book exchange; Mrs. Gladys P. Sansbury, '44soc.wk, clerk in the book exchange; Mrs. Annetta Lee Kent, '45ed, clerical stenographer in the correspondence study department, and Mary Elizabeth Cox, '45ba, assistant law librarian.

Weldon Stone, former professor of English at Texas A. and M. has recently joined the faculty of the School of Drama. Mr. Stone will be an associate professor of playwriting.

Gus C. Lease has been appointed a member of the fine arts faculty at the University. He previously had taught voice at the University of Colorado.

The Board of Regents recently made appointments to the faculty of the University which included: Woodrow Wilson Page, '38ba, part-time instructor in mathematics; Warren J. McGonnagle, '42ms, special instructor in physics, formerly graduate assistant; Mrs. Matilda Willibrand Holter, '33bs, '39ma, instructor in modern languages; Mrs. Frieda Derdeyn Bambas, '26ba, instructor in modern languages.

LeRoy Shelton, '44ba, teaching assistant in Spanish on two-third time basis, formerly graduate assistant; Mrs. Elizabeth Barrowman Barnett, '36phys.ed, instructor in physical education for women; Mrs. Dorothy Neal Snead, '46music, teaching assistant in applied music and theory; Dr. Dorothy Van Dyke Leake, '44ph.d, assistant professor of plant sciences; Joseph Quincey Snyder, '42bs, three-fourth time instructor in chemistry; Leroy E. Stewart, '37ba, '38ma, instructor in government; Betty Coe Armstrong, '39ba, instructor in education, Laboratory Schools.

William N. McAnulty, '38ed, three-fourth time instructor in geology, formerly half-time instructor; John Hanor Webb, '42ms, instructor in geology; Charles Millard Terry, '41, teaching assistant in geography; Mrs. Ina Annett Ewing, '26art, special instructor in art; Mrs. Nancye Dooley Good, '25art, special instructor in art, Mrs. Marjorie James Scull, '46ba, teaching assistant in English.

Dr. Coye W. McClure, '38ba, '40med, clinical assistant to department of ophthalmology clinical staff; Dr. Richard Weston Payne, '40ba, '43med, graduate fellow in pharmacology; Dr. Paul Martin Darden, '42med, graduate fellow in pharmacology; and Dr. Rex Bolend, '08, has his leave of absence extended one year.

Future Oklahoma teachers will have ample opportunity for practice at the University. A new practice teaching program will send education majors to the University's new Laboratory School on the North Campus for half-day periods. The amount of credit hours will be increased from the usual two hours.

"Abbeits," a volume of poetry by Dr. Gustav Mueller, chairman of the department of philosophy, has been released by the publishers, A. Francke Verlag of Bern, Switzerland.

This is Mueller's fourth volume to be published by the Bern publishing house.

Thomas Mann, internationally known author and lecturer who read the manuscript before it was sent to the publisher, praises the work highly.

A new high in number of students enrolled in the University Law School was set this fall. Late enrollees are expected to place the enrollment at nearly 400. Dr. Julien C. Monnet, dean emeritus, said the previous high was 337 students. The Law School has a new dean, Dr. W. Page Keeton, formerly assistant dean of the University of Texas Law School.

Dr. Ronald B. Shuman, chairman of the department of business management at the University, served on the general staff of the Army of occupation in Berlin.

The staff of the University English department which now numbers 46 was doubled this fall to take care of increased enrolment.

Nine new members have been added to the faculty of the University College of Business Administration.

Jack A. Rhodes, '43ba, former assistant in government at the University, is now teaching in the department of political science at Wellesley College.

He has been granted a release and will begin teaching on a fellowship next February at Harvard while working on his doctoral dissertation.

His favorite course at Wellesley is an advanced one in "Legislative Problems." Of the Wellesley girls, Rhodes declares they are so intelligent "that it is most difficult to get a grade distribution."

Charles Caldwell, '25ma, principal of the University Junior High School, and Guy Waid, principal of the University High School, exchange ideas on high school administration. Mr. Waid also serves as supervisor of social studies and visual education, and Mr. Caldwell as supervisor of science and visual education.