

112 members during a campus American Legion campaign, leading up to the recent N.B.C. coast-to-coast broadcast of Ralph Edwards' show, "Truth or Consequences," sponsored by Post 303.

Tickets and expenses to this Texas-Alabama tilt were awarded to Goldsmith and his wife.

Goldsmith was an advance student in R.O.T.C. and received his commission in artillery at the close of the first semester. During the war he was a signalman with the Navy in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater.

Still another resourceful student businessman is LORAN E. KEY, NORMAN, sophomore in pharmacy. His business is money. He has a small office over Sooner Drug where he runs a check cashing agency. While he is in classes his wife, MERLENE HUNNICUTT KEY, operates the business. During the war Key served as a field artillery sergeant with the First Army in Europe. He participated in the offensive in Normandy, Northern France, the Rhineland, the Bulge and Germany.

These students of today are representative of the many other students at the University working to help pay their ways through school.

Some more of those representing student-workers of yesteryear include D. E. "BILL" HODGES, '25ba, '27law. While in the University he held more student jobs than any other student on the campus. He was chief announcer on W.N.A.D. He also worked on both Sooner Yearbook and Oklahoma Daily, edited the Extension News, sold tickets for interurban rides into Oklahoma City, was chief stamp lickler for the Extension Division, worked on the Norman Transcript, and was general manager in charge of all extra change at the Sigma Chi house. Yet he found time to make Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Delta Phi, Pe-et, Toga, Cubs' Club, Monnet Bar, Publication Board, and became vice-president of the Student Council.

Hodges is now employed in the legal department of Phillips Petroleum Company, BARTLESVILLE.

Still another alumnus of the institution who worked his way through school by his own ingenuity was J. LEE CROMWELL, '24ba. His specialty was selling ads to local and Oklahoma City business firms to be displayed on cards in McIntyre Jitneys of the old era. Cromwell is now an advertising executive in ENID.

Today, students still work in the Oklahoma Memorial Union, Campus Corner shops, and dozens of other business establishments and private homes. They work as lab assistants, as graduate assistants, on publications, as librarians, and as part-time employees doing the thousands of odd jobs which come with running such a huge institution.

Actually, maybe times haven't changed so much as it seems. At any rate, today's under-grads still collect extra dimes to scare the proverbial wolf from the front entrance while they ride within the campus limits of the Sooner Range.

Correspondence . . .

Dear Ted:

How I do enjoy that Sooner Magazine every month

Florida University had its homecoming the week before the one at O.U. and though my husband is a student here, how I did wish to be back in Norman for the bang-up celebration. As one Sooner to another, I like that extra western touch O.U. gives to everything.

As far as I know, Mother (Irlene Renfrow Boyd) and I are the only two Oklahomans down here. I did meet Mr. William Tiffin who was at the Engineering College recently. If there are others let me know.

Would it be too much trouble to give me a generalized picture of the Oklahoma Association set-up. There is a plan to reorganize the Alumni Association here at Florida, and knowing how well ours works. I'd like to tell a friend closely connected with the Association. I have forgotten the tie-up with the Athletic Council in particular. I hope this isn't too big an order because I like to spread the "Sooner Spirit" down here in Florida.

I get quite a kick out of the weekly football letters. I think it's a swell idea.

Greetings to all the staff I used to know.

Sincerely, Mrs. Mary Ellen Boyd Wilcox, '43h.ec

East Orange, New Jersey

Dear Ted:

Once a year since I got out of school, I have had to ask you to change my address. You've done a swell job keeping up with me to date, and this new switch should be the last one for a long time. Will you please see that further correspondence and copies of Sooner Magazine are sent to me at:

c/o General Electric Company, Air Conditioning Department, 1801 North Lamar Street, Dallas 2, Texas.

During the last couple of years I've spent in the east, I have been quite proud of O.U. Our football and basketball teams have really made a name for the school and get a great deal of respect from everyone back here. I've even rooted for the Aggie basketball team on occasions. There are a lot of grads back here, and old friends keep popping up every now and then.

I've finally gotten the break that was worth waiting for and am being transferred to the southwestern district office of the air conditioning and commercial refrigeration department. I'll be working as a district representative under V. L. Strange, '22-'26.

Since Oklahoma is in my new territory I hope to be in Norman often from now on. Thanks for the trouble.

Sincerely, John D. Jacobs, '46eng.

Dallas, Texas

Dear Ted:

I have moved again and would like for you to change my address to 1028 Liberty Bank Building, Dallas, Texas. I am still with the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Inc., with duties as associate to the Southwestern director.

It is good to be back in this part of the country and get with my old friends I have in Dallas. I am looking forward to becoming associated with our Alumni Club here. I am also looking forward to coming to Oklahoma City and visiting with you and General Key.

Yours sincerely, S. E. Cockrell, Jr., '38bus.

Denver, Colorado

Dear Ted:

Since I last saw you, I imagine you have thought I let you down. I received the list of Albuquerque O.U. people and followed through by sending out cards to all 45 of them. I received only five cards from those interested in forming an Alumni Club there. About that time I was changing positions and from there on I was extremely busy and neglected the job of organizing. Then I made a move to Denver, completely forgetting to write you.

In the move to Denver, I misplaced the names of those five interested. However, when we find better living quarters and can have our goods shipped from Albuquerque, perhaps I'll find the names, then I can advise you.

In case you want to follow through, I would suggest that you write E. M. Barber, '16ba, in Albuquerque. He is a lawyer grad from way back. I believe he would follow through for you.

I understand that you have an active chapter here in Denver. I have been so busy that I've had little time except for work. However, I hope to join up soon.

So far I like my new work. I'm general manager of the Colorado Pre-Mix Concrete Company. It isn't any bed of roses at present with the extreme cement shortage.

I enjoy reading about O.U. progress in the magazine. I know you've had a hand in it.

Sincerely, Wayne D. McKowen, '34bus.

Notice, Alumni!

If you are not a life member of the University of Oklahoma Association, you may save $20 by becoming one before June 30. After that date the cost will be $80 instead of the $60 currently charged.

You may pay the full $60 now or make an initial payment of only $15 and pay the balance at the rate of $5 quarterly until the $60 total has been paid.

Buy a share in O.U. now—and save.

FAYETTE COPELAND, '19BA

Dr. Copeland Named Director of J-School

Dr. Fayette Copeland, '19ba, has been named permanent director of the University School of Journalism by the Board of Regents.

A member of the faculty since 1921, the journalism professor has served as chairman of the administrative committee for the journalism school since last summer when Stewart Harral resigned to devote full time to press relations work.

Other actions taken at the last Regents session include the appointment of a University archivist and professor of history. He is Dr. Gaston Litton, now director of the American library at Managua, Nicaragua. Dr. Litton will assist in the gathering and cataloging of all archival material on Oklahoma in a permanent repository.

A leave of absence for Frank Hughes, assistant professor of music, for the 1948-49 school year was approved. Mr. Hughes is slated to study at the Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester, during his leave.

Dr. Joseph H. Marshburn, professor of English, will do research work at the British museum during a similar leave of absence.

Appointment of Dr. Copeland as director of the School of Journalism was recommended by a faculty committee appointed to consider candidates.

A University of Oklahoma graduate of 1919, Dr. Copeland was granted his Master's and Ph.D. degrees at Louisiana State University in 1936 and 1945, respectively.

He attained the rank of professor of journalism in 1945. His scholastic, social and professional affiliations include Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Delta Chi, Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, Society of American Historians and American Association of Teachers of Journalism.
