'Shocky' Gets Cagers Ready

The forgotten man who is responsible for much of the agility and sharpness of the Sooner basketball teams every year is the gent with the closely cropped hair, Jerome "Shocky" Needy, '37ed.

This basketball wizard with the small bow legs coaches the Sooner B team and the freshmen. It is Needy who drills the all important fundamentals into the prospective cagers who come to Oklahoma.

"Shocky," as he is known to the players, had quite a career in basketball before becoming Bruce Drake's assistant. He played high school basketball for Sedalia, Missouri, in 1931, then went to Maryville Teachers for a year before coming to Norman.

Here, Needy lettered for three years playing on the squads of 1934, 1936 and 1937. He was exceptionally sharp on passing and had a dead eye for the hoop. Outstanding traits and achievements don't stop at basketball for Needy. He received his B.S. in education from Oklahoma in 1937 and his master's degree from Missouri in 1938.

Now he lacks only a comprehensive examination and thesis before completing a doctor's degree in physical education at New York University.
