

Preview of a Room

Located between the outdoor dance terrace and the cafeteria, the fountain room in the new north wing of the Union Building will serve several purposes. It will dispense refreshments to those who dance on the terrace, and it will catch the overflow from the cafeteria during the rush hours. It is also planned to keep the fountain room open late in the evenings so it will be able to serve persons who attend campus activities late in the day. During the daytime hours it will cater to coffee and coke drinkers.

Paneled in random-width natural pine, the room will seat 250 persons. Booths will line the wall, and tables and chairs will fill the center section of the room. It will be lighted with cove fixtures in the center of the ceiling and by cornice fixtures along the wall. Bright red chairs and booth seats will be cushioned with airfoam rubber.

Equipped with a complete kitchen, the fountain room will feature an S-shaped 3-station fountain, a coffee station and a short order station where sandwiches and cold plate dishes may be ordered.

Hillyer Freeland, '38fa, manager of the Union, said work is progressing rapidly on the fountain room and the rest of the building. The work schedule calls for completion early in the fall.

Soonergram of the Month

March is the month when Engineers are publicly honored for the many advancements they have made all during the year and years to the progress of the nation and world. The Oklahoma Biltmore joins hands with other well-wishers in extending sincere appreciation for a job consistently well done.

Here at the Biltmore we've had an opportunity to serve many Sooner Engineers. Whenever a civic or alumni gathering is taking place, they are always present. In addition The Sooners Home Away From Home is daily serving in that capacity for O.U. Engineers. They will always find that at the Oklahoma Biltmore courtesy creates its own welcome.
