

Report to Alumni

A Good Year's Work

More than 2,000 contributors and a purse containing $100,000. That's the story . . . and a good one it is for the University of Oklahoma Foundation and Alumni Development Fund. Both figures were compiled by the two funds during the period July 1, 1950 through December 31, 1951. (The 18-month "year" was due to a change from a fiscal year to a calendar year. In the future, all Fund business will be transacted from January 1 to December 31. The Foundation was already on a calendar year basis.

The number of contributors (1,441) and total contributions ($12,712.94) set a new record for the Development Fund for any previous 18-month period. The Foundation totals held their own with 568 contributors giving $91,437.87.

The Fund and Foundation's success, proved by the figures above, indicates a quickening of interest and knowledge of the two organization's purposes.

Basically, the Foundation seeks large contributions to help support worthwhile projects at the University which state funds can not or do not support. The average Foundation gift based on the data given above was $160.98.

Money given to the Foundation may be earmarked for a specific function or it may be given unrestricted. A glimpse of the restricted donations show the following projects supported by Foundation funds: Equipment for the Geology Building, funds to help renovate the Law School practice court room, scholarships and Foundation Teaching Awards (Sooner, January, 1952), and many, many more.

The Development Fund has a supplementary object in mind—it seeks contributions from every size of pocketbook on an annual giving basis. An average donation for the Fund was $8.82 for the last 18 months.

As in the case of the Foundation, the Development Fund seeks to help finance or partially finance small projects which will benefit the University that it can not achieve in any other way.

At the top of the Fund's project heap are scholarships. During the past year 30 scholarships valued at $200 were awarded. Fund projects that received support during the past year were scholarships (general, medical research and nurse); Research for disease control; help for the handicapped; research in problems of range management; research program for treatment of old age diseases, special treatment for deaf and dumb, research study of plants as a source of chemical products; to provide specialized information for community planning problems; president's emergency fund; marriage counselling (see story page 9); publication of research and special information and teacher preparation survey.

Listed below are the contributors to the Development Fund and to the Foundation. Development Fund contributors are given by counties for in-state donors and by state otherwise.
