

Yolanda Sheppard
and son, Sim Craig IV

Honored Son by a Gifted Daughter

YOLANDA SHEPPARD, daughter of O. U.'s most renowned artist, Professor Emeritus O. B. Jacobson, soon will attend ceremonies in Washington, D. C., when her statue of the late Senator Pat McCarran is placed by Nevada as that state's first of two figures for the Capitol Building's Statuary Hall (statues of Sequoyah and Will Rogers represent Oklahoma). Yolanda, who received her BFA from O. U. in '41, lives in Reno, Nevada, with her husband, J. Craig Sheppard, O. U. BFAs in '38 and '39. Sheppard once taught at O. U., was a Fulbright lecturer, and now heads Nevada University's art department.

J. Craig Sheppard
and daughter, Sophia

Rotunda statue of Senator McCarran