THESE five pretty girls who are modeling campus corner Togs for Spring are five of one hundred engineering students' wives who have banded together to learn what to expect when hubby gets an engineering job. They're also banded together for a lot of fun. Calling themselves the Engine Wives, they meet twice a month to find out more about engineering and to plan an array of activities which time-wise rival their husbands' studies. In addition to their recent Spring Fashion show, they schedule teas, white elephant (gift) parties, and charity projects. They also help St. Pat with decorations and refreshments for his dance and April open house. At the end of the year they have their own graduation ceremony with PHT degrees conferred on the gals who Put Hubby Through.
