

ROLL CALL

of Alumni Newsmakers.

GOLDEN DAYS—That piercing gaze must have been disquieting to campus news sources when Roy Heffner snapped this study of the old Oklahoma Daily office. If you recognize this jaunty newshound with the press-type hat, give us an identity scoop. (July's athlete is tagged on next page.)

ROLL CALL of Alumni Newsmakers

July:

“The Slugger”

There was certainly reason enough for July's Roy Heffner subject to assume that triumphant pose and cocky smile. Percy S. Main, '34, had just smacked the homerun which (as nearly as he can remember) led his fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, to victory over the Phi Gams (“We loved to beat the Phi Gams.”)

Main was spotted by another of that group of Betas, Paul Pugh, '33Law.

As dangerous as Slugger Main might have been at the plate, he was even deadlier on the basketball court. An All-Big Six guard, he left O. U. just short of graduation to play semi-pro basketball. He finished the few hours he lacked for a BBA after he had returned to Oklahoma City where he is now in the real estate business.

He saw action in both World War II and the Korean conflict.

Main and his wife, the former Beriece Doler, a '35 OCW grad, are already deep in plans to make full-fledged Sooners of their three sons when college time rolls around for the boys, a senior and a junior in high school and a fourth grader.

Take a look at this month's Heffner man on Page 19 and see if you can identify him as readily as Paul Pugh tagged Percy Main.
