The Scholar Program

3

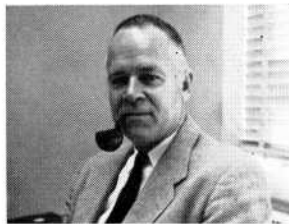

The first class of University Scholars rates A's for Ability and Achievement. The astute young students who compose the class deserve acclaim for their academic accomplishments in a program tailored to give the bright students an opportunity to shine.

Of Paris, Penguins and Parabolas

6

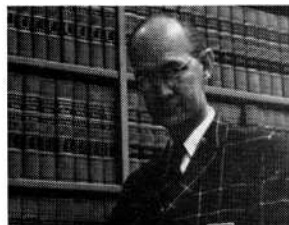

Life can be beautiful—even in icy Antarctica. O.U.'s finalists in the Paris Prize in Architecture competition are confident their plans for a model community within shopping distance of the South Pole would entice even a penguin to come in out of the cold.

The Other Side of the Coin

10

In our zeal to educate, do we Americans have a distorted view of the desired goal to be attained? Have we demanded and used the whole power of education? Dr. John S. Ezell poses some probing questions about the purpose and direction of our individual and collective lives.

The Daniel Lecture

In answering the annual question asked by the Daniel Lecture—"What Form of Government Is Best for the Happiness of Man?"—Dr. John Paul Duncan discusses the nature and meaning of the state and frames his definition of the best government for mankind.
