

AN ACRE OF SEATS IN A PALACE OF SPLENDOR

(Photo courtesy — Helgesen collection)

By Bill Peterson, Number 25 in a series

FOX THEATRE — SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA

The San Diego Fox was designed by the California architectural firm of Weeks and Day, who did many houses in that state. This theatre opened on November 8, 1928. Although the console does not show in this photo, the house has a Robert Morton organ which is in "good health" and used occasionally for concerts.